Huge Flood Damage Reported In District Around Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—Ravaged by the most devastating flood since 1868, southeastern Pennsylvania today settled back in disarray to survey the far-flung destruction caused by the Schuylkill river and its tributaries during the last 24 hours. Having passed the peak of its angry fury, the rushing waters of the Schuylkill began slowly to recede at daybreak after spreading damage from Pottsville down through the picturesque Perkiomen valley to the very heart of Philadelphia.

Four persons, including a baby, were known to have drowned in eastern Pennsylvania and authorities believe the toll may rise as the water recedes. Property damage will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars, observers reported.

Boy Scouts Safe
Meanwhile, apprehension for the safety of 500 Philadelphia Boy Scouts marooned on "Treasure Island," their Delaware river camp near Frenchtown, N. J., quieted down after rivermen reported no immediate danger.

A ferry cable leading to the Pennsylvania shore was restored and the Scouts will be taken off the island, state troopers said, if the river rises 10 more feet. The boys are amply provided with foodstuffs and are reported enjoying the experience.

Shortly before dawn rescuers braved the raging torrent to take

R. F. C. Attorney Charges "Bad Faith" To Congressman Brewster Of Maine

DENIES EXTENSIVE LOBBYING CHARGE

Admits, However, That He "Sat In" Several Meetings Of Congressmen

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Thomas G. Corcoran, youthful RFC attorney, today branded Rep. Brewster (R) of Maine with "lacking courage" and "bad faith" on power legislation.

Resuming testimony in the house rules committee's utility lobbying inquiry, Corcoran again denied he had threatened to withdraw funds from the Passamaquoddy project in Maine unless Brewster voted for the utility holding company "death sentence."

Six State Parley Of Republicans Compiles Issues

Platform Of Cleveland Sessions Is Significant Of G. O. P. Campaign Stand

FARM RELIEF PLAN STRONGLY SCORED

Bonus Payment Is Included In Planks; Also Anti-Lynching Law

By ALVIN L. KRIEG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, July 10.—Republicans of six states left behind them here today a platform significant in many respects.

Observers mulled over the platform, which comprised the report of the regional Republican conference resolutions committee.

There was agreement on all sides that the major planks were these:

1.—Condemnation of the AAA, the farm relief plan of the present administration.

2.—Commendation of the Republican party as a party of high social ideals, founded on the principles of social justice; and

3.—Conference support for immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus and passage of a federal anti-lynching law.

Attacks AAA Program

In its attack the agricultural adjustment administration as "deceitful, unconstitutional, and destructive." The conference went much further than the last Republican rally, the "grass roots" convention at Springfield, Ill. States represented at that meeting were predominantly agricultural, and the platform adopted then "went easy" (Continued On Page Two)

Eruption Flares In Volcanic Island

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

BATAVIA, Java, July 10.—The volcanic island of Krakatoa flared into violent eruption today. Explosions occurred every two minutes, throwing streams of lava half a mile into the air.

The special guard assigned to the area was doubled and arrangements made to warn surrounding territory by tom-tom relays if the eruption reaches more menacing proportions.

Reports said the Island of Anakrakatau, one of the broken ridges of volcanic land formed in the Sunda Strait when Krakatoa volcano first blew to pieces centuries ago, has disappeared entirely.

Commanders Of Black Shirts In Secret Meeting

ROME, July 10.—All commanders of Black Shirt and regular army divisions preparing for service in East Africa were understood to have been called hurriedly together today in a secret meeting convoked personally by premier Benito Mussolini.

Commenting on London reports Italy may modify her stand against Abyssinia in behalf of a peaceful settlement, authoritative quarters said this country was remaining unrelenting in its demands.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Storms and floods in New York state and the upper section of Pennsylvania, recall the record rains which fell here last summer. These did not occur until the last of July, and early part of August, however. Three storms in two weeks brought six inches of rainfall, and a near flood resulted here, the water washing the bottom of the North street bridge.

A cactus plant owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoover of East New Castle, which only blooms every eleven years and then remains for only a few hours, bloomed for the first time on Tuesday evening. The plant started to open at seven o'clock and was in full bloom by eleven. The flower looked like a large white water lily and in the center it looked very much like a candle with a star at the foot. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover invited many of their friends to witness this beautiful plant.

Fire Outbreaks Add To Damage In Flood Zones

Several New York State Communities Battle Fires In Flooded Areas

DEATH TOLL STILL SHOWING INCREASE

Huge Toll Of Cloudbursts Is Beginning To Be Revealed To Rescuers

(International News Service)

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 10.—Fire cast a red glare over the flood-stricken area of south central New York state today as national and state authorities battled to head off an epidemic of pestilence and fresh cloudbursts at two points and the collapse of a dam brought added terror.

Flames broke out during the night in Mount Airy, a community of 1,500 at the foot of Seneca lake, and laid waste a major portion of the town. Broken water mains left the citizenry helpless.

Dam Goes Out.

A dam went out at Hammondsport, center of New York's champagne and brandy industry in Steuben county, sending residents fleeing from their homes. Forty homes were partly submerged.

At Hornell, inundated since Sunday, continued cloudbursts swelled flood waters. With the water rising rapidly, threatening to make further relief from the outside impossible, the village was placed under martial law. Famine was another threat here, many citizens having gone without food for 30 hours.

The death toll stood in the neighborhood of 50 while the Red Cross (Continued On Page Two)

Congress May Quit In August

Conference With President On Speeding Close Of Session Is Held

"MUST" MEASURES ARE CONSIDERED

By GEORGE DURNIO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The administration was pushing hard today for an adjournment of congress not later than mid-August—provided that the hot and irritable legislators find it possible to reach a vote in the next five weeks on at least four more of the measures on the president's "must" program.

Asks For Action

Mr. Roosevelt is in hearty accord with the desires of the house and senate to wind up the session but he has asked first for definite action on the following:

1. The wealth-tax program, which, so far as house Democratic leaders are concerned, will be limited to original White House proposals for high federal inheritance (Continued On Page Two)

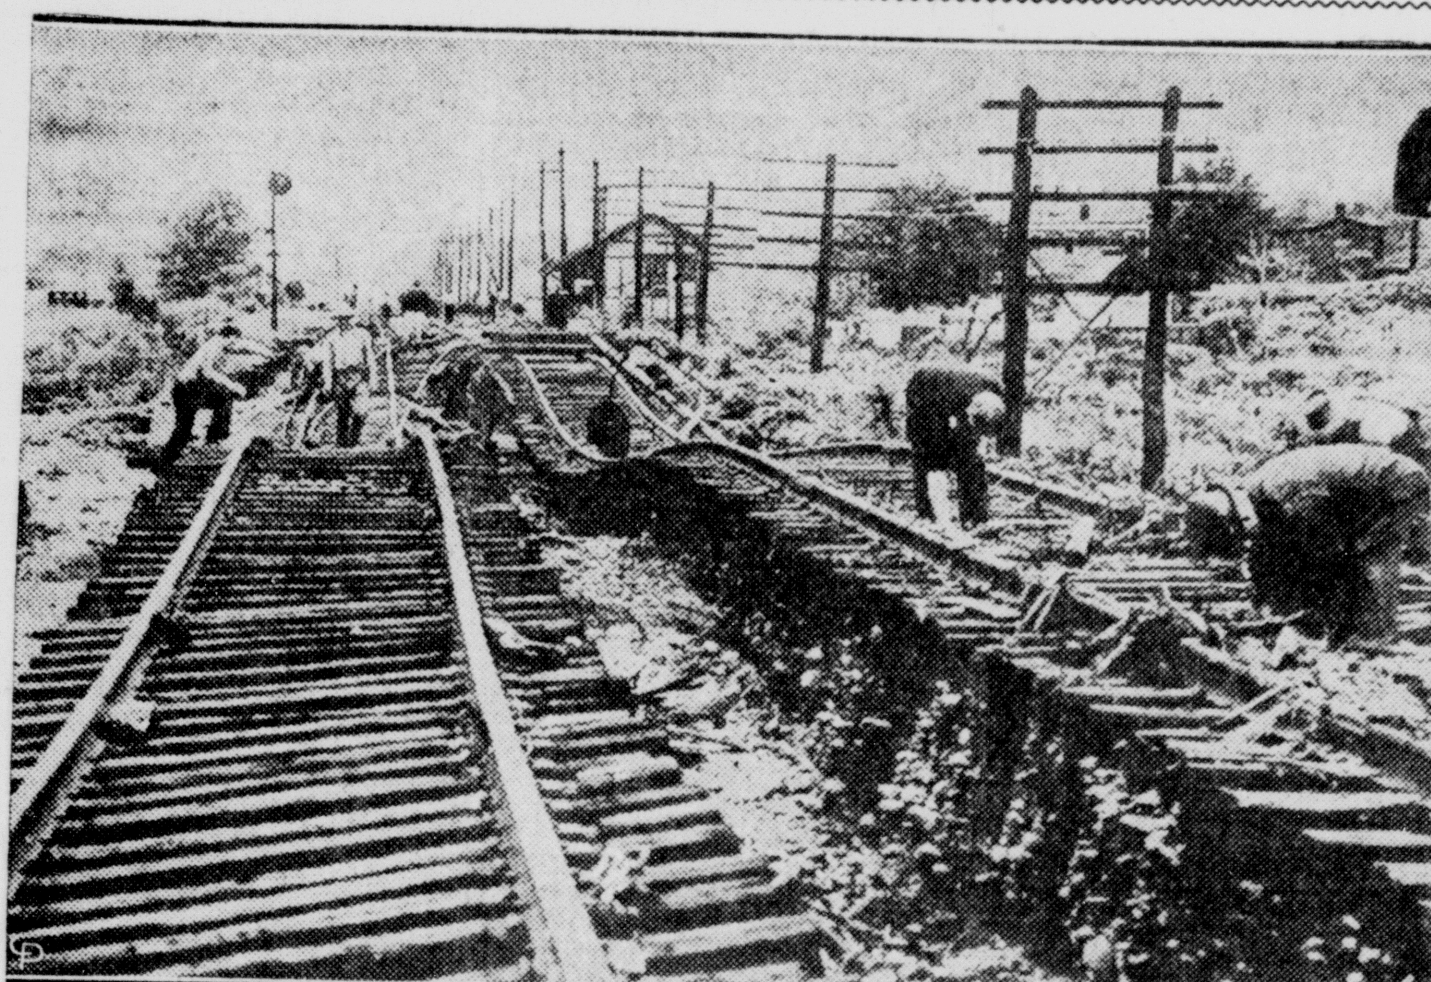

WILL ROGERS SAYS:
(Special To The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., July 10.—Well sir, a funny thing showed up in the papers yesterday, something we hadn't heard of in so long that it seemed like reviving an article from King Tut's tomb.

It was "the budget," remember old budget? Well, they dug him up and they are even talking about balancing him. 'Course they won't be able to do that (you take a rope walker that's laid off for years and they never come back), but it's good just to hear the old boy's name mentioned again.

Young folks won't know who he is, but he was quite a useful fellow in his day. Budget is for the name, spelled B-U-D-G-E-T, pronounced budget.

Above is a scene along the West Shore tracks of the New York Central railroad at Randall, N. Y., after they had been washed out for 500 feet as a result of the rains of cloudburst proportions that flooded many streams in central New York state. Many lives were lost and property damage was estimated at $15,000,000. The West Shore is solely a freight line here, but other passenger-carrying roads suffered similar damage in this region. Note even a signal tower upset along track.

British Cabinet Ethiopian Peace Moves Fruitless

Most Observers See Only One Outcome In Ethiopia-Italian Offensive

BRITAIN CONSIDERS FURTHER EFFORTS

May Ask For Special Session Of League Of Nations For July 25

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 10.—Britain's cabinet grappled again with the problem of peace moves in Abyssinia today, but to most observers here and abroad there was but one question, when will the Italian offensive begin?

The decision to be reached by the cabinet was whether Britain should take the initiative in requesting that a special session of the League of Nations council be summoned for July 25, or the bilateral method of conciliation should be tried further.

It was believed that no move to summon the council would be taken until continental reaction to latest developments was studied.

The cabinet also approved Foreign Minister Sir Samuel Hoare's declaration on foreign policy to be made before the house of commons tomorrow, in which the Italo-Ethiopian crisis will figure largely.

His statement, it was understood, will reaffirm Britain's intention to bend all efforts to find a solution that will prevent the outbreak of hostilities.

Nothing To Halt War
With newspapers proclaiming "only a matter of weeks now separates the world from the next war," it was the general belief in diplomatic circles that following collapse of the conciliation negotiations in Holland, nothing now will stop Italy from going to war.

TOKIO, July 10.—Emperor Hirohito today turned his attention from Japan's military and trade progress in China to possible Italian interference with Japanese interests in Abyssinia.

The mikado, according to the Tokyo correspondent of Reuters, the British news agency, "is taking considerable interest in the present dispute between Italy and Abyssinia, and is making unofficial efforts to avert hostilities."

That the emperor's "interest" in the two-year-old rivalry of Japan and Italy in the African empire may extend far beyond peace efforts was indicated in the news that he is receiving in audience General Kazushige Ugaki, a member of the (Continued On Page Two)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—Pennsylvania outdistanced the nation generally in the gain in collections of internal revenue during the fiscal year ended last June 30, according to figures released today by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Wife Of Justice Of The Peace Is Assassinated While Asleep

NEW DETECTION METHOD IS USED

"Infallible Wax," New Scientific Method Of Hunting Clues Invoked

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 10.—Baffled by the mysterious murder of Mrs. Martha Westwood, 38, wife of Justice of Peace James J. Westwood of suburban McKees Rocks, this morning police resorted to "infallible wax"—newest scientific method of crime detection—today for clues.

While her husband was absent, five bullets were fired into Mrs. Westwood's body apparently from a porch overlooking a bedroom in which she slept. Awakened by the shots, daughter, Bertha, 19, found her mother's lifeless body in a pool of blood.

Westwood left home shortly before the shooting to take a county detective home. He learned of the tragedy in Beechview police station and hurried home to collapse at the sight of his wife.

In applying the "infallible wax" detectives said paraffin casts will be made of hands of all persons even remotely connected with the case. If any of the persons tested have fired a gun in the past two or three (Continued On Page Two)

RAGING FLOOD WATERS SWEEP OVER EASTERN PENNSYLVANIA SECTION

New York Floods Surge Down Into Pennsylvania, Causing Tremendous Damage — Philadelphia Feels Full Effect Of Disaster — Other Parts Of Nation Hit

(By International News Service)

Raging brown flood waters swept down on Eastern Pennsylvania today in full fury after exacting a toll of more than 50 lives and approximately $20,000,000 property damage in New York.

Before noon seven deaths were reported in the Keystone state and the waters of the Susquehanna, Delaware and Schuylkill rivers and their tributaries were still rising dangerously.

Floods were beginning to take on the aspect of a national calamity.

Northeastern Maryland was struck by cloudbursts during the night and 300 homes and the business section of Havre de Grace were reported swamped.

Even the high and dry state of Montana suffered. Two were killed and 2,000 rendered homeless when little construction towns around the Fort Peck dam were destroyed by cloudbursts and tornado-like winds.

Pennsylvania Danger Spot

Flood danger in Connecticut was believed gone today when skies began clearing, though the Connecticut river was 12 feet above its normal level.

While upstate New York, where scenes of misery and destruction are almost indescribable, was hardest hit, the greatest danger spot today was Pennsylvania.

Early in the day the Susquehanna left its banks at Wilkes-Barre and that city and a large area to the south were in peril.

The usually placid Delaware was a turbulent giant from Pottsville to the heart of Philadelphia. Its rise was the most rapid in memory of Pennsylvanians and it was not expected to reach its crest until late today.

Before noon veteran rivermen called the flood conditions the worst Pennsylvania had seen since 1868.

Six persons, including a baby, were known to be dead in Pennsylvania. Others were unaccounted for.

Operations Cease

Operations in rich industrial areas, including the whole of Montgomery county, were shut down in the face of the rising waters. Perkiomen creek ran wild, soaring 21 feet above its level.

The Red Cross and state health agencies were rushing food and medical supplies to the thousands of injured and homeless in New York. Hundreds suffering from hurts and exposure were being treated in schools and other communities.

Disease was still the great menace. Anti-toxin for typhoid was being hurried to every stricken district and titanic efforts were being made by an army of 25,000 TERA and more than 1,500 CCC workers as well as volunteer groups to restore sanitary conditions and open up highways so that food and other needs can be brought in.

Fire, resulting from short circuits and explosions, was adding terror to the scene.

ELKS AND PARTY TO PARADE AT 5

Dinner At 7:15 At Home Will Follow March Welcoming Envoys

A parade through downtown streets at 5 o'clock this afternoon and a dinner in the Elks home at 7:15 o'clock will form the welcome celebration which New Castle's Elks are sponsoring for Elksdom's two roving goodwill ambassadors, enroute from Miami, Fla., to the Columbus, O., grand lodge convention.

Members of the New Castle lodge are expected to march in a body behind public officials and the honored guests, Francis P. Boland and Stanley, in the parade which starts at Shenango Motor company, West Washington street.

At the dinner Fred L. Rentz will be toastmaster and several prominent speakers here will be heard. Boland and Stanley will also participate in the program.

The two envoys left Miami late in May and since then have been visiting lodge after lodge, arousing interest and support for the Columbus grand lodge sessions. Six other envoys are heading for the Ohio capital from other points in the country.

Fifty Thousand Made Homeless

Deaths Will Run Up Into Hundreds Meagre Reports Indicate

GREAT YANGTZE IS ON RAMPAGE

(International News Service)
HANKOW, July 10.—Tales of catastrophe trickling in today over crippled communications revealed a heavy loss of life in the hundreds of square miles blanketed by the muddy flood waters of the great Yangtze and its tributaries.
Deaths could be estimated only as running into the hundreds, but indicative of the havoc was the destruction of an entire village near Chingchow, with two-thirds of its population perishing.
Troops from seven provinces were called out to strengthen the crumbling dykes and aid in rescue work. Thousands of refugees were taken to safety from their precarious perches on trees and roofs.
At least 50,000 are homeless. Ichang, a city of more than 100,000, was added to the score of flooded centers today.

Shanghai, July 10.—Fifteen today were reported killed as an earthquake added its terrors to the flood-devastated Yangtze river basin.
The deaths occurred at Yuanling, 200 miles east of Changsha.

FIRE OUTBREAKS ADD TO DAMAGE IN FLOOD ZONES

and the army, acting under instructions from President Roosevelt, rushed doctors and fever vaccine to beleaguered points.
Latest Victims.
Latest flood victims were Dewey Chadwick, 31, drowned in his front yard at Hornell as he tried to make his way to a store to get a lollypop for his three-year-old daughter, Mrs. Dora Wanesfeld.
Where her cottage was swept away, and an unidentified woman whose body was found with one foot wedged between the ties of the railroad track near Whitney Point.
Although Arkport was said to be completely flooded, no loss of life there was reported.
It was estimated that 3,000 persons are homeless as a result of the floods, while the financial loss was placed as high as $20,000,000, twice the original figure advanced by state authorities.
Autos Washed Away.
Rail and bus service remains impossible or badly disrupted throughout the flood zone. Five hundred automobiles were washed away by the flood or buried under debris, a survey disclosed.
Here in Binghamton, firemen waded neck-deep and brought apparatus by boat when a two-alarm fire destroyed the Grand Union store and a restaurant. This followed a $150,000 blaze which razed much of the downtown section of Walton, a town of 3,500 in Delaware county.

Ninety bridges have been washed away and landslides are commonplace. Impassable roads and lagging means of communication isolated scores of communities, added to the fire hazard and handicapped the efforts of 25,000 relief workers, 1,500 CCC men and hundreds of national guardsmen and state troopers.
Watkins Glen Is Shambles.
It took the International News Service reporter four and one-half hours to get a telephone call thru from this city to Watkins Glen, 68 miles away.
The Glen, half of which was left a shambles by the flood waters of Seneca lake, is inaccessible even by airplane. D. W. Gates, a merchant there, gave his telephonic description of conditions:
"Mayor Arthur Peck has sworn in 100 deputy sheriffs to police the place. There has been an outbreak of looting."
"Four hundred CCC men who have a camp nearby are helping to keep order and dig out the ruins."
"Army doctors and vaccine are said to have arrived but I don't know how they got here."

Fearful of Fire.
The fire at Montour Falls originated in the Bailey & Hedden garage and spread quickly to adjacent buildings. It was believed that no loss of life resulted.
Ithaca, Elmira, Corning and other hard hit centers were fearful that fire would take a fresh toll.
Robert D. Bondy, national director of disaster relief for the Red Cross, arrived by airplane from Washington to coordinate all agencies of mercy.
At the instance of Gov. Lehman, sanitary surveys were begun by the TERA. Samples of drinking water are being tested against typhoid.
Fire Chief Elmer J. Brown of Binghamton broadcast a warning that the citizenry exercise caution in the use of candles for lighting. Electric current is off in numerous areas.

4. The measure regulating bus and truck traffic.
Early action also is desired on the Omnibus Bank Bill, over which some debate still exists.
Mr. Roosevelt sounded out the sentiment of house leaders last night at a two-and-a-half hour White House conference and found them agreeable.
To Discuss Adjournment
Before the week is out, the president is expected to talk things over with senate Democrats in an effort to bring about a mutual understanding on adjournment. If he does not do so sooner, the executive will be spending the coming week-end with upper house leaders—having accepted an invitation to the Jefferson Club, an island fishing retreat on Chesapeake Bay maintained by Democratic senators.
It was reported that Mr. Roosevelt had asked last night's assembly of house leaders to close down by August 3 if possible.
Speaker Byrnes, who acted as spokesman following the conference, seemed somewhat dubious about adjournment that soon but when asked whether it might be expected by the middle of the month, he said:
"I hope so, although your guess is as good as mine."
He added that night sessions of the house might be held if necessary to speed the tax bill.

Pre-Historic Bones Cause Controversy

(International News Service)
MAMMOTH, Ariz., July 10.—Archaeological controversy over the finding of bones of a race of "super giants" which has been in dispute the last seven years, was reopened here today with the discovery of an elaborate pre-Columbian ruin, peopled with skeletal remains measuring much over six feet.
The ruin, a village more than a half mile long, is about five miles from here on the San Pedro river.
The remains of a man apparently killed by an arrowhead, which was imbedded in his skull, was brought here and examined by Dr. L. A. Love.
Bones Are Long.
Although it was impossible to determine the exact measurements, all the long bones of the pre-historic man are excessive in length. Dr. Love stated, but in proportion to the large skull, other body bones are unusually large, including the ribs.
Located in an easily accessible place but concealed by brush to the casual observer, the village in which the skeleton was found is on a sand hill about 100 yards from the river. The skeleton was lying full length.

lined up at one time ready for flight last night. Quite a number of planes are now being kept at the airport hangars.

Postal receipts continue to gain at the New Castle office. An indication of increasing business in the city and county, according to the best judges of business conditions.

The paint-up epidemic continues to spread. More and more homes in the city and county are being freshened up with a couple of coats of fine new paint. Certainly an epidemic that can stand all the impetuses that it can get. Help it along!

Pa Newscast is at a loss to understand why some of the Pinchot type of improved roads in this district are nice and smooth and others are as rough as a washboard.

Out in Mahoning township, Pa Newscast saw a farmer getting a mowing machine in shape to start work in a wheat field last night. Wheat harvest will probably be well under way this week, in the greater part of the county.

Rambling around in the Pulaski district last night, Pa Newscast was rather interested at the present day appearance of the old Pulaski Fair Grounds. The remnant of the half-mile track is still in existence, but inside the oval is growing corn. The entire area that was used as parking space inside the race track during fair days is green with corn stalks.

The old German cannon on the west end of the Diamond received a coat of black paint. It was formerly painted a yellow color.

An old familiar landmark, the tree which has stood at the corner of Grant and Jefferson street for so many years, has now decayed and toppled to the ground.

One of the most unique of the gardens around the city is the one on the bank of the Shenango river on the north side of the West Washington street bridge. It is located on an almost vertical hillside out of which a series of steps have been dug.

A great many of the newly placed street signs have begun to rust and the paint is beginning to chip off, Pa Newscast is informed.

Auto drivers inform Pa Newscast that the recently improved Rural avenue is in rough condition. The surface needs attention, as the loose top has become exceedingly rough.

HUGE FLOOD DAMAGE REPORTED IN DISTRICT ABOUT PHILADELPHIA

eight Lambertville, N. J., girls off another Delaware river island.

From every section came accounts of roads washed out, inundated, swept away, meadows, farmlands, towns and villages under water, and railroad beds ripped out. Train services over the tracks of the Reading, Pennsylvania and B. & O. railroads were curtailed as wrecking crews worked frantically to repair washed out sections of track. Automotive travel over hundreds of miles of state highways, was impossible, isolating several small communities.

Delaware Rising

Getting a late start, the Delaware river was rising rapidly, but no extensive damage was feared, as the river had been exceedingly low. Between last midnight and dawn the river rose 10 feet here. Observers said the flood stage will not be faced unless new rains swell the river's tributaries before nightfall.

The flood's death list:
Louis Young, 18 months, of Fairview township, near Norristown, drowned in a flooded storage cellar.
Joe and Frank Turczinski, brothers, of Easton, carried over a dam at the confluence of Lehigh and Delaware rivers as they attempted passage from an island on a log.
Elwood Beck, 35, a farmer of Bittern's creek, swept from a bridge on Zweizer's creek, upper Lehigh county.

Philip J. Marlin, III, 12, of Philadelphia, drowned in the Delaware river near Bristol while swimming.
James Miller, 18, lost his life in Manatwain creek at Pottstown.

Creek Up 21 Feet

In the Perkiomen valley where the Perkiomen creek rose to a height of 21 feet above normal, the area was left without gas or electric lighting facilities, bungalows were smashed into kindling and washed away, meadows inundated, fields of uncut wheat flattened, corn fields ravaged and railroad beds swept from beneath tracks.

The rich industrial area of Montgomery county virtually ceased operations as the raging Schuylkill flooded basements, damaging expensive machinery and ruining stocks. In Philadelphia the Schuylkill river and Wissahickon, Frankford and Pennypack creeks leaped their banks. Six miles, employing more than 1,000 workers, were shut down. Scores of homes in the northeast section were flooded. Trolley traffic in several sections was halted and train service over inundated B. & O. tracks was curtailed.

Nearly Seven-Inch Rainfall

Rainfall of 6.56 inches in 36 hours was responsible for the floods in the Perkiomen valley area, the weather bureau reported. Beginning its wild dash at Green Lake, the Perkiomen creek spread destruction all along the valley to Norristown, where it tumbled its waters into the swollen Schuylkill.

The massive mill owned by Louis Shippery at Green Lane was washed clean of its contents of grain and the town was under water, with scores of automobiles submerged and Red Men's hall flooded.

Nine hundred persons were isolated as Swamp creek and the Perkiomen surrounded the village of Zieglerville. As the swift current overturned boats, efforts to reach them were abandoned.

The community of Schwenksville, with a population of 1,800, was cut off from other sections by inundated highways. Hundreds fled the town to Pottstown. Tracks of the Reading railroad were also washed out at Schwenksville.

British Peace Efforts

London, July 10.—Despite collapse of the League of Nations conciliation committee's efforts to settle the Italo-Abyssinian dispute, Great Britain is continuing her attempt to prevent an African war. Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for League of Nations affairs, told the house of commons today.
"Britain is determined to continue her endeavors in co-operation with other governments to bring about a settlement of the Italo-Abyssinian dispute by peaceful means," Capt. Eden said.
The time has not arisen yet for representations to Italy alone, Eden said in answer to a question by Geoffrey Mander, liberal.

Mander suggested representations be made to Italy in connection with a controversy that for Britain is "a matter of honor and of vital interest so that she will not default on her obligations under the league covenant."
To this Capt. Eden replied:
"I assume the reference is to a situation which would arise if Italy resorted to war in disregard of her obligations under the covenant."
"Such a situation has not yet arisen, and I earnestly trust that it will not arise."

Town Wiped Out
It was rumored that the town of Marathon, wiped completely out of existence, will not be rebuilt, that its residents will seek new homes elsewhere.
Residents of Hammondsport had a terrifying experience when a dam burst today, allowing a wall of water to sweep through the town. No lives were reported lost, however.

Looting became so bad at Binghamton that Sheriff Arlington B. Thatcher swore in a large group of deputies, armed them and issued the grim order:
"Shoot on sight."

Damage in a circular tour of 180 miles in the Binghamton area was reported to be much greater than early estimates indicated. Observers said farmers have lost everything, homes, crops, livestock and that they will have to depend on public relief for many months. Cost of rehabilitation will run into millions.

premise Japanese war council, and an opponent of neutrality in the Abyssinian fight.

Gen. Ugaki was quoted in a recent Rengo news agency broadcast as saying that "Japan should not be content with dithering dispute" in the Italo-Abyssinian dispute.
Japan is "gravely concerned" in the Abyssinian developments, a spokesman for the foreign office said today, although he expressed doubt that the statement attributed to Gen Ugaki had any official sanction.

No appeal for Japanese intervention has yet been received from Ethiopia, the foreign office mouthpiece said.

He took sharp issue with Italy's contention that Japan had "persuaded" Ethiopia to buy Japanese products.
"Only low costs for our products won us commercial favors in Abyssinia," he said.

The spokesman denied Japan has been selling ammunition to Abyssinia.

SIX STATE PARLEY OF REPUBLICANS COMPILES ISSUES

on the farm relief set-up that has brought millions of dollars in benefit payments to farmers.

Not so the meeting here, however. The 2,000 Republicans who ended their session here late yesterday represented six states, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee, and about equally divided between agriculture and industry.

Urges New Plan

The Cleveland platform urged substitution for the present farm act of a permanent plan, which the platform said, would:

"Increase consumption of farm products; restore as far as possible our lost foreign trade; protect our home markets from excessive importations; and enable our farmers to manage their farms without bureaucratic control from Washington."

The platform calls for levying of taxes fairly on all the people, and assailed taxes "that oppress the poor or soak the rich." In its "social justice" plank, the Republicans went on record as favoring old age pensions, care of the disabled, maximum hour law for women, employment insurance for employees, assistance for persons unable to find employment and abolish of child labor.

Bonus Plank

The planks of the platform assailing the new deal on the ground that it usurps the constitution, and calling on the G. O. P. to "save the constitution," were generally expected. The bonus issue and the anti-lynch law issue, however, were not anticipated, and precipitated the liveliest session of the two-day convention when an hour-long fight for their inclusion raged on the floor, where they originated.

Although he has been engaged in many political battles, Westwood lightly dismissed revenge as a motive for the murder.
"I can think of absolutely no motive," he asserted.

Several persons living near the square's home told authorities they saw a man run from near the dwelling immediately after shots rang out. They agreed it was a man.

When discovered, Mrs. Westwood lay with her head directly beneath an open window lead onto a porch. An examination showed powder burns on her body, indicating the gun had been held close to her.

Among the large number of New Castleites who are away from the hot city at the present time are Miss Virginia Weinschenk of Savannah Gardens and Miss Margaret Sankey of East Wallace avenue.

Both are on a Mediterranean cruise, Miss Weinschenk sailing with a friend, Mrs. C. E. Brand of Washington, D. C., and Miss Sankey being in the company of her brother, Fred Sankey of Pittsburgh.

The cruise has an interesting itinerary mapped out which will include stops at Beirut, Syria, Palestine, Fort Said, Egypt, parts of Spain, Turkey, Russia, Italy and Greece.

The local folks expect to return the latter part of August.

A dinner party was planned by Jollikousins club members Tuesday evening when they met with Mrs. Charles Bishop on Locust street. The occasion is scheduled for July 16 at Cascade park and will be in the form of a picnic, to be served at 6 o'clock, marking a special part of their program this month.

Cards later interested the group, trophies being carried off by Mrs. Joseph DePuy and Mrs. Harry Gribble. In serving a dainty collation, the hostess was assisted by Geraldine McClelland.

The evening was concluded with a shower of gifts being presented to Mrs. Gribble in observance of her birthday anniversary. She will entertain July 23 at her home on Croton avenue at their regular session.

Prizes were won by Gem Ann Pearsall and Jimmy Maloney at the close of this feature.

While this was taking place, twelve of the mothers who also shared, competed for card honors, trophies falling to Mrs. W. G. McMullen, Mrs. Frank Hill and Mrs. Frank Dorsey. This was followed by the serving of a dainty lunch at the dining room table, centered with a large pink birthday cake, topped with seven lighted candles.

The little ones, however, enjoyed their repast at individual tables arranged about the back lawn. Mrs. Wallace was assisted by her niece, Katherine Pearsall and the latter's mother, Mrs. E. H. Pearsall, with the afternoons activities.

A large collection of gifts, were presented to Llewellyn, in remembrance of the day.

Descendants of these four brothers later settled in other parts of Pennsylvania and in the Shenandoah and valley of Virginia.

CLASS ASSOCIATES HONOR RECENT BRIDE

Complimentary to Mrs. Arthur Brown, who was Margaret Guy until a few weeks ago, a surprise show-cards for people, who are eager to escape the sultry days of mid-summer.

Guests numbering 28 were members of the K. J. U. class of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, who spent a delightfully informal evening. The shower, of course, was the chief feature, and it was cleverly presented. The bride was given a new class program, but instead of finding the usual activities outlined, she was directed to look after her new home, to be surprised, and these she found to be various assorted glasses of jelly. This collection preceded an even greater surprise, the bride being presented with a most useful big gift by the class, an electric waffle iron set.

A dainty repast, which the class had brought with them, was served by a committee composed of Mrs. C. W. Allen, Mrs. Herman Alexander and Mrs. C. O. Scheidtmann. The entertainment committee consisted of Mrs. Manly Broadus and Mrs. Frank Hamilton.

On Friday morning, the class will hold a breakfast at Cascade park, the hour of 8 being set for the event.

PIONEER RESIDENT VISITS NEW CASTLE

Fifty-two years ago, Dr. Charles E. Wallace, a pioneer resident of New Castle, took Horace Greeley's advice and "went west", locating at New Sharon, Iowa.

Today, he and his wife, together with a daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butson, of Minneapolis, Minn., are in the city visiting several nieces and nephews, and renewing old time friendships, by the score.

Dr. Wallace who is 78 years of age now, is a brother of the late Mrs. Eva L. Baker, of New Castle. While here, he taught school in the early nineties. Later he took up the study of medicine, winning enviable success in the state of Iowa as one of its popular practicing physicians. He has retired of late years.

In order that the family might have a happy reunion while the visitors are in town, a family picnic has been planned for Sunday noon, at Gaston park. Dr. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Butson expected to be back by that time from a few days trip to Washington, D. C., upon they will depart this evening.

A SUMMER CONGRESS?

NOW that the white house seems quite definitely to have decreed that the so-called wealth-tax legislation shall be passed before congress adjourns, observers in Washington are engaged in working out some kind of time-table based on normal expectations.

The revenue law would be originated in the house of representatives. Work would start in the ways and means committee. A month would not be too long for reasonable hearings in committee and drafting of the bill. This would be followed—say, about August 5—by debate in the house, possibly consuming ten days. About the middle of August the bill would be sent to the senate. Committee work there would require about two weeks—we are up to September 1—to be followed by two or three weeks debate on the floor of the senate.

Well, we will not believe it unless and until we see it. A Washington summer is a prospect which congress would face only in circumstances of extreme emergency, and no one has asserted that this tax bill is an emergency measure. Even a session lasting through July and into the middle of August would be beyond any normal expectancy.

A "break" of some sort? A change of arrangements? A recess, perhaps, with work resumed early in the fall? Unless the president and the administration forces in congress have become enmeshed in some kind of "politics of desperation"—as has been intimated—we shall look forward to a turn of affairs that will see members of congress on their way out of Washington weather and Washington weariness in about three more weeks.

REALISTS IN THE WEST

For all its splendor and beauty, the spending plan of Governor La Follette has gone the way of the vast co-operative commonwealth of Governor Olson for Minnesota and the expansive state new deal of Governor Marland for Oklahoma. It seems that in all three, unimaginative legislators have caused the wreckage because they could see only the bare realities of a situation, not the glory and magnificence of a dream.

What Governor La Follette wanted was authority to use the state's forthcoming allotment of 100 million dollars from the federal work-relief fund as capital for the building up of a total state fund of 209 million dollars by the use of scrip, the whole amount to be spent within a year as a guaranteed cure for the depression in the area affected. A majority of the senate was not impressed. Some of the objectors held that the plan was unnecessary, as the state could not spend 100 million dollars in a year. That sort of difficulty, it is to be noted, is being encountered by the administration with its fund of four billion dollars.

However, the Wisconsin legislators, like those of Minnesota and Oklahoma, are a depressingly practical lot. They seem to believe in considering all the factors in a case, in looking about thoroughly and in counting the costs as well as appraising the benefits. That sort of humdrum stuff may be all right for small business, but it would never bring in a new order overnight.

What the three states seem to need is a first-class brain trust to prod their legislatures into a conception of a millennium that can be greatly hastened in its approach; one that won't have to be paid for, either, by such a sordid thing as taxation.

ELIMINATING THE FIRE-BUG

One of the more encouraging phases of fire prevention work is the decline in arson. According to a committee report from the National Board of Fire Underwriters, covering the fiscal year that closed on April 30, 1935, conditions now are better than at any time since the committee was started.

Incendiarism is at a relatively low ebb, and is further declining. Investigations and prosecutions are being made more efficiently, and with better results. Weak and ineffectual arson laws have been corrected and strengthened. Public officials, especially prosecuting attorneys, are showing themselves to be much more determined than in the past to stamp out the fire-bug.

The statistics tell the story. During the year, arrests for arson were the lowest in any year since 1928, while the rate of conviction was high. Convictions were obtained in 77 per cent of the cases tried, as against 70 per cent in the year before. A number of these convictions were of members of organized arson gangs which had caused hundreds of thousands of dollars of property loss throughout the country.

Much of the credit must go to the fire insurance industry which has worked unceasingly against the incendiary. It has prepared model laws, which have been widely adopted. It has sent out trained investigators to aid local officials. And it has carried questionable fire-loss cases to court, and helped to uncover evidence of arson that might otherwise have never been unearthed.

The arsonist, who works in the dark, has been called, with justice, the most despicable of criminals. He deserves no mercy.

DRILL THE PASSENGERS

Secretary of Commerce Roper announces new regulations to insure greater safety of life at sea. It is time for something to be done. Indeed, there have been justifiable surprise and anxiety over the apparent delay, with the Morro Castle and Mohawk disasters still tragic memories. However, expert opinion has had to be sought and the practicability of each rule canvassed. Ship owners and operators have had to be consulted. It is earnestly to be hoped that, with all this, a sizable and much-needed dose of vigor and vigilance has been injected into the federal bureau of steamship inspection.

The regulations as promulgated show that particular attention has been paid, as it should be, to such problems as fire protection, the providing of adequate numbers of life belts, the smoother and quicker launching of lifeboats, the installation of alarm systems and improvement of the means of reliable communication between pilot house and engine room. All this is praiseworthy; so also are the rigid examination and certification of all lifeboat men and able seamen and the more rigid requirements concerning the instruction and the assignment of the crew to emergency services. American ships should be the safer for all these things and the standard of shipping generally ought to be improved by them.

But the passengers themselves must not be overlooked; doubtless, when the rules are published in detail, it will be seen that this point is emphasized. Most assuredly it should be. If passengers are not instructed as to how to put on life belts, if they are not given lifeboat and fire drills, all the other precautions may be for naught.

What should I do when, after I have used the telephone in a public pay station, the operator obligingly gives me my money back? ... Am I criminal when I keep it? ... As I do.

When I was 17 I wore my hair "pompadour" and was I a sight-for-sore-eyes! ... All the other fellows had theirs cut that way, and if you didn't you were queer.

I'm a bad gambler... so I don't gamble.

About three times a year my watch falls out of my pocket and the crystal is broken. ... Each time I resolve to get a chain for it. ... So far, however, no chain.

I hate that fellow who sat in his car last night in our neighborhood and honked and honked and HONKED! It's all right, isn't it, to hate somebody you don't know?

If young people annoy you're middle aged (no matter when you were born). ... When you're quite old (they will amuse, interest and delight you).

When I fish I'm not interested in technique. ... I want fish. ... My idea of good fishing is to sit in a row-boat on a lake with a cork on the line and dream away the afternoon.

I suppose I ought to like riding horses. ... But every horse I ever rode had a stronger will than I have.

I like gossip. ... What is more interesting than human conduct?

I met a friend who told me that he had quit smoking. ... I asked him how long since he had smoked. He said it was nine weeks and three days. ... And since he was keeping such close track of his abstinence I knew he hadn't quit for good. When I see him again he'll be smoking.

On a street car I saw a woman with a little boy. ... The boy stood on the seat. ... The woman pushed him under her. ... He fell and hit his head against the window and cried. ... Then she slapped him for crying.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE MODERN KINGS

Most of Europe is now ruled by dictators, and strangely enough, most of these dictators are not natives of the countries of which they are absolute rulers.

Adolf Hitler of Germany, for example, is an Austrian by birth; Mustafa Kemal of Turkey, is a Greek from Salonika; Joseph Stalin of Russia was born in Asiatic Georgia; Eamon De Valera of Ireland was born in New York City; the late Josef Pilsudski of Poland, was a Lithuanian.

Only Mussolini, among all the more important dictators of Europe, is a native of the country he rules. He was born in Dovia, Italy.

He who would be dictator of the United States is also distinguished by having been native born.

THE OLD TOWN HOTEL
The loneliest place I was ever in, and it's gospel truth I tell, Was the lobby grand of an up-to-date, magnificent hotel.

The chairs were deep and wide and soft, and the walls were fair to see. And hundreds of people came and went, but never one spoke to me.

Alone I sat through an afternoon, while the rain was beating down. And thought of the time I was stranded once in a little country town.

They called it the Grand Hotel, but why I never could understand; There was nothing about it from cellar to roof that was even close to grand.

There was a deer head on the wall, and a fish on a varnished plank. A fly-specked picture of hunting dogs and a calendar from the bank.

There were a stove and some rocking chairs, but that lobby I still recall. As being richer with human fellowship than any great gilded hall.

I was the stranger, but not for long. The proprietor sat him down. And told me things of the old and young who peopled that little town.

Men came and went as the storm kept up. To the tune of the wind's wild wail. I got the tale of that long dead deer and the yarn of that mounted fish.

He had a dog and he called him in to show me his clever tricks. And I reckon we settled most everything from religion to politics.

I've often thought as I've gone my way on many a lonely trip. That the body wants comfort and luxury, but the heart wants fellowship.

And I ever again I must be stranded when the rain is beating down. May I not be caught in some city vast but some quaint little country town.

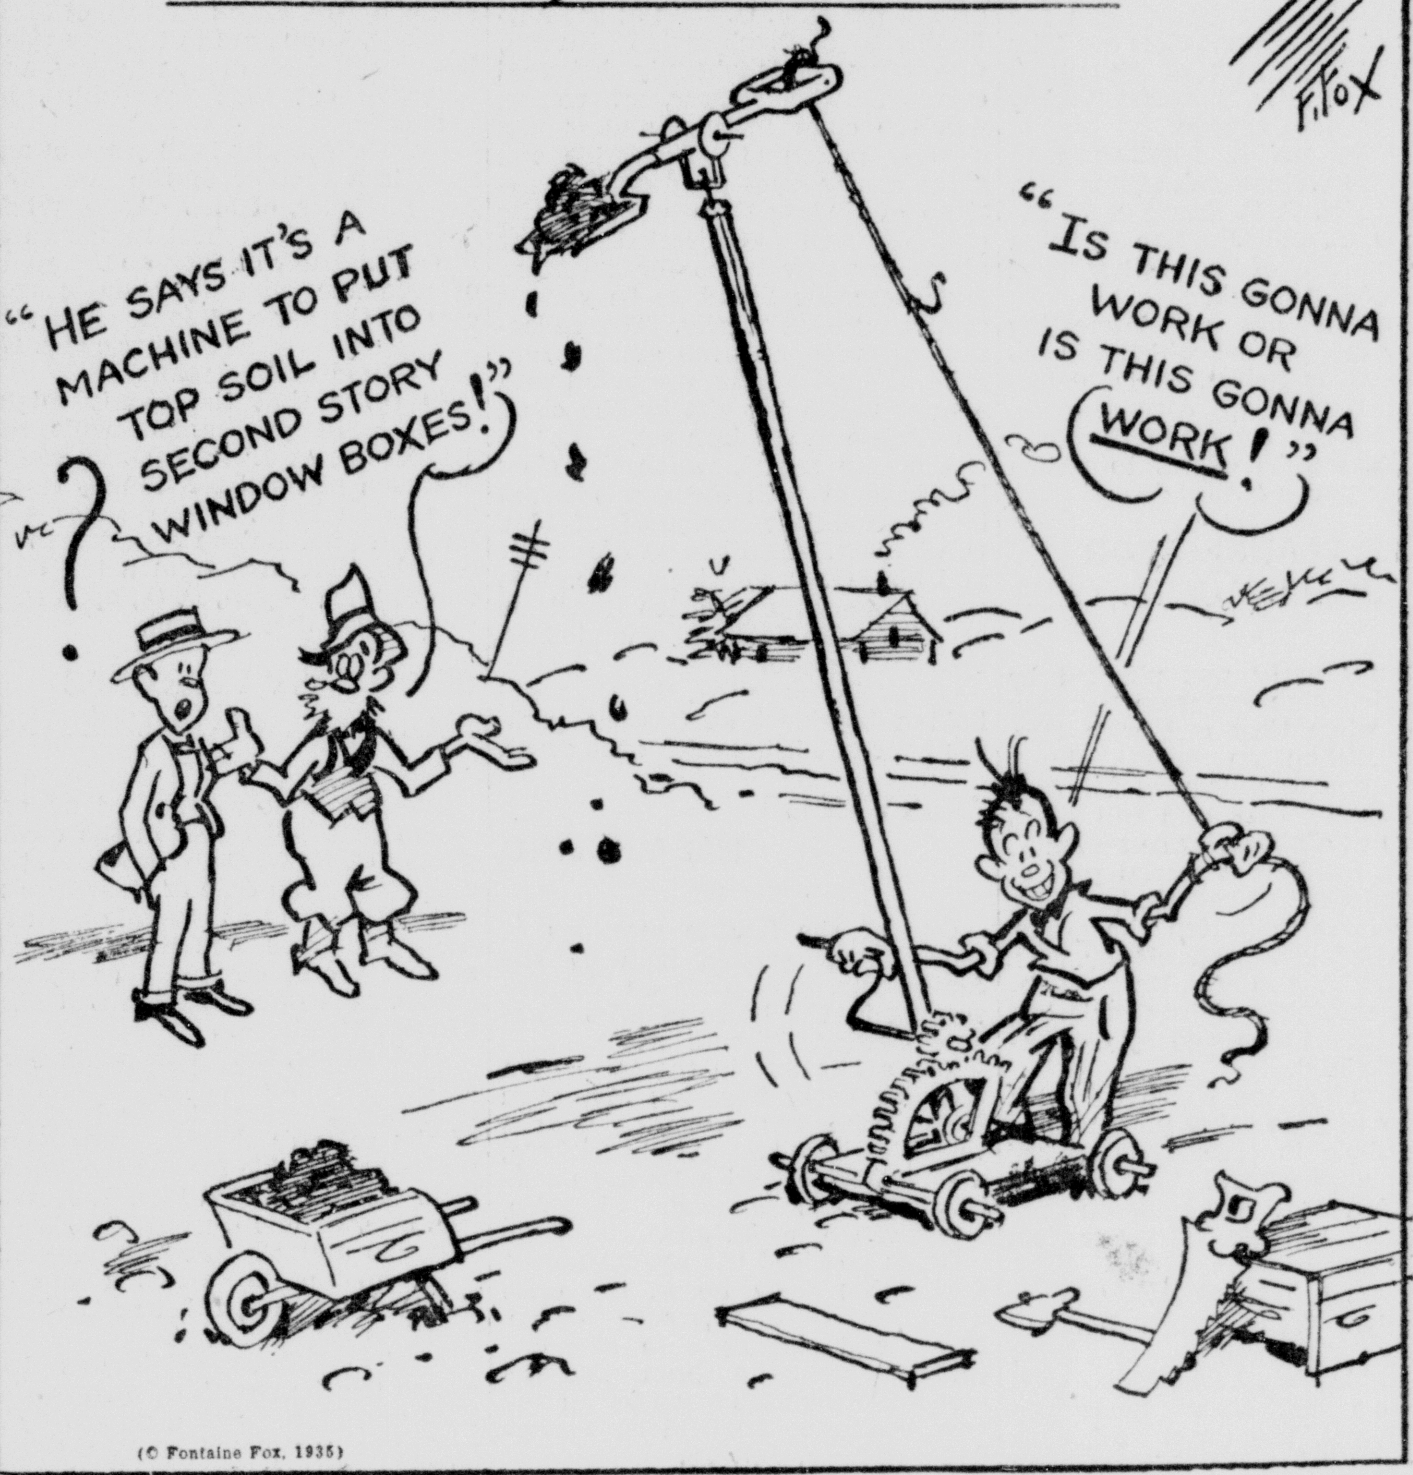

May it be my luck on that afternoon to be in some small hotel where I can share in the fellowship and the tales that the men folks tell.

Lack Of Leaders Decried.
Could Borrow From Industry.
President May Have To.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 10.—What is the greatest defect of the Roosevelt administration?

Its opponents could give a thousand answers. But within the administration there are two answers:

(1) The vacillation of the president.
(2) The lack of capable executives.
The vacillation of an executive is taken for granted. One who sees thousands of persons and at the same time is put to constant pressure to solve the problems of 127 million persons, with political trade winds of all sorts always hampering him, is likely to have little time to readjust the myriad intricate patterns of thought to a general whole. The lack of capable executives, however, is the finishing touch. If a chief executive (of any sort) has no persons on whom he can trust the major part of his work, then he is likely to have a mind too full of close-up detail to reason out the ultimate course.

WHERE TO GET THEM?

Where could President Roosevelt obtain the executives?

He could obtain them from corporations.

But would they not work against the people's interests? They would not. They would work for the people's interests, in bringing order into their public affairs. The sub-executives of large corporations are, to a large degree, socially minded, humane men, who give no heed to political considerations or even to any particular economic system.

Would they not try to favor the corporations for which they worked?

They would not. Such men often are not in sympathy with the specific policy of the corporations for which they work. But fate has put them where they are. They are faithful, sincere men. They would aid the government—and the people—vastly.

PROFESSORS

It would be a foolish man who did not have respect for learning. Learning is the true road to freedom.

But professors often are not good executives.

They are excellent advisers. Their knowledge and their deductions are needed badly.

Management, however, is a distinct profession of its own. It requires not only a lifetime of training, but diplomacy that is in itself a form of democracy.

Contacts with workers, contacts with controlling powers, and accommodations in spite of both, give the corporation executive (the working executive, not the one in softly-carpeted New York offices), a special ability that an expanding government must have.

WILL PRESIDENT ACT?

Will the president, forgetting personal desires, friendships and political "debts," call such men to the government's service?

He may have to.

But will such men come for government salaries?

The salaries should be made commensurate with private salaries. If a well-trained man could save the government five or ten millions a year, if he could bring system out of chaos, if he could aid instead of hurt the people, he ought to be worth as much as a president gets.

Do our readers desire to comment on this?

WHAT DO YOU KNOW OF YOUR PLACE OF EMPLOY?

Because you are not paid for knowing something about the work in other departments in the establishment where you are employed, you don't make any effort to gain a general knowledge.

This means you will be kept where you are now working until you are discharged or until you leave voluntarily.

You will not be chosen as an overseer because you will not know enough about other departments. You know so little that you have no idea of how to co-operate for the good of the whole organization. You seem to think of nothing but turning out work that will please your boss.

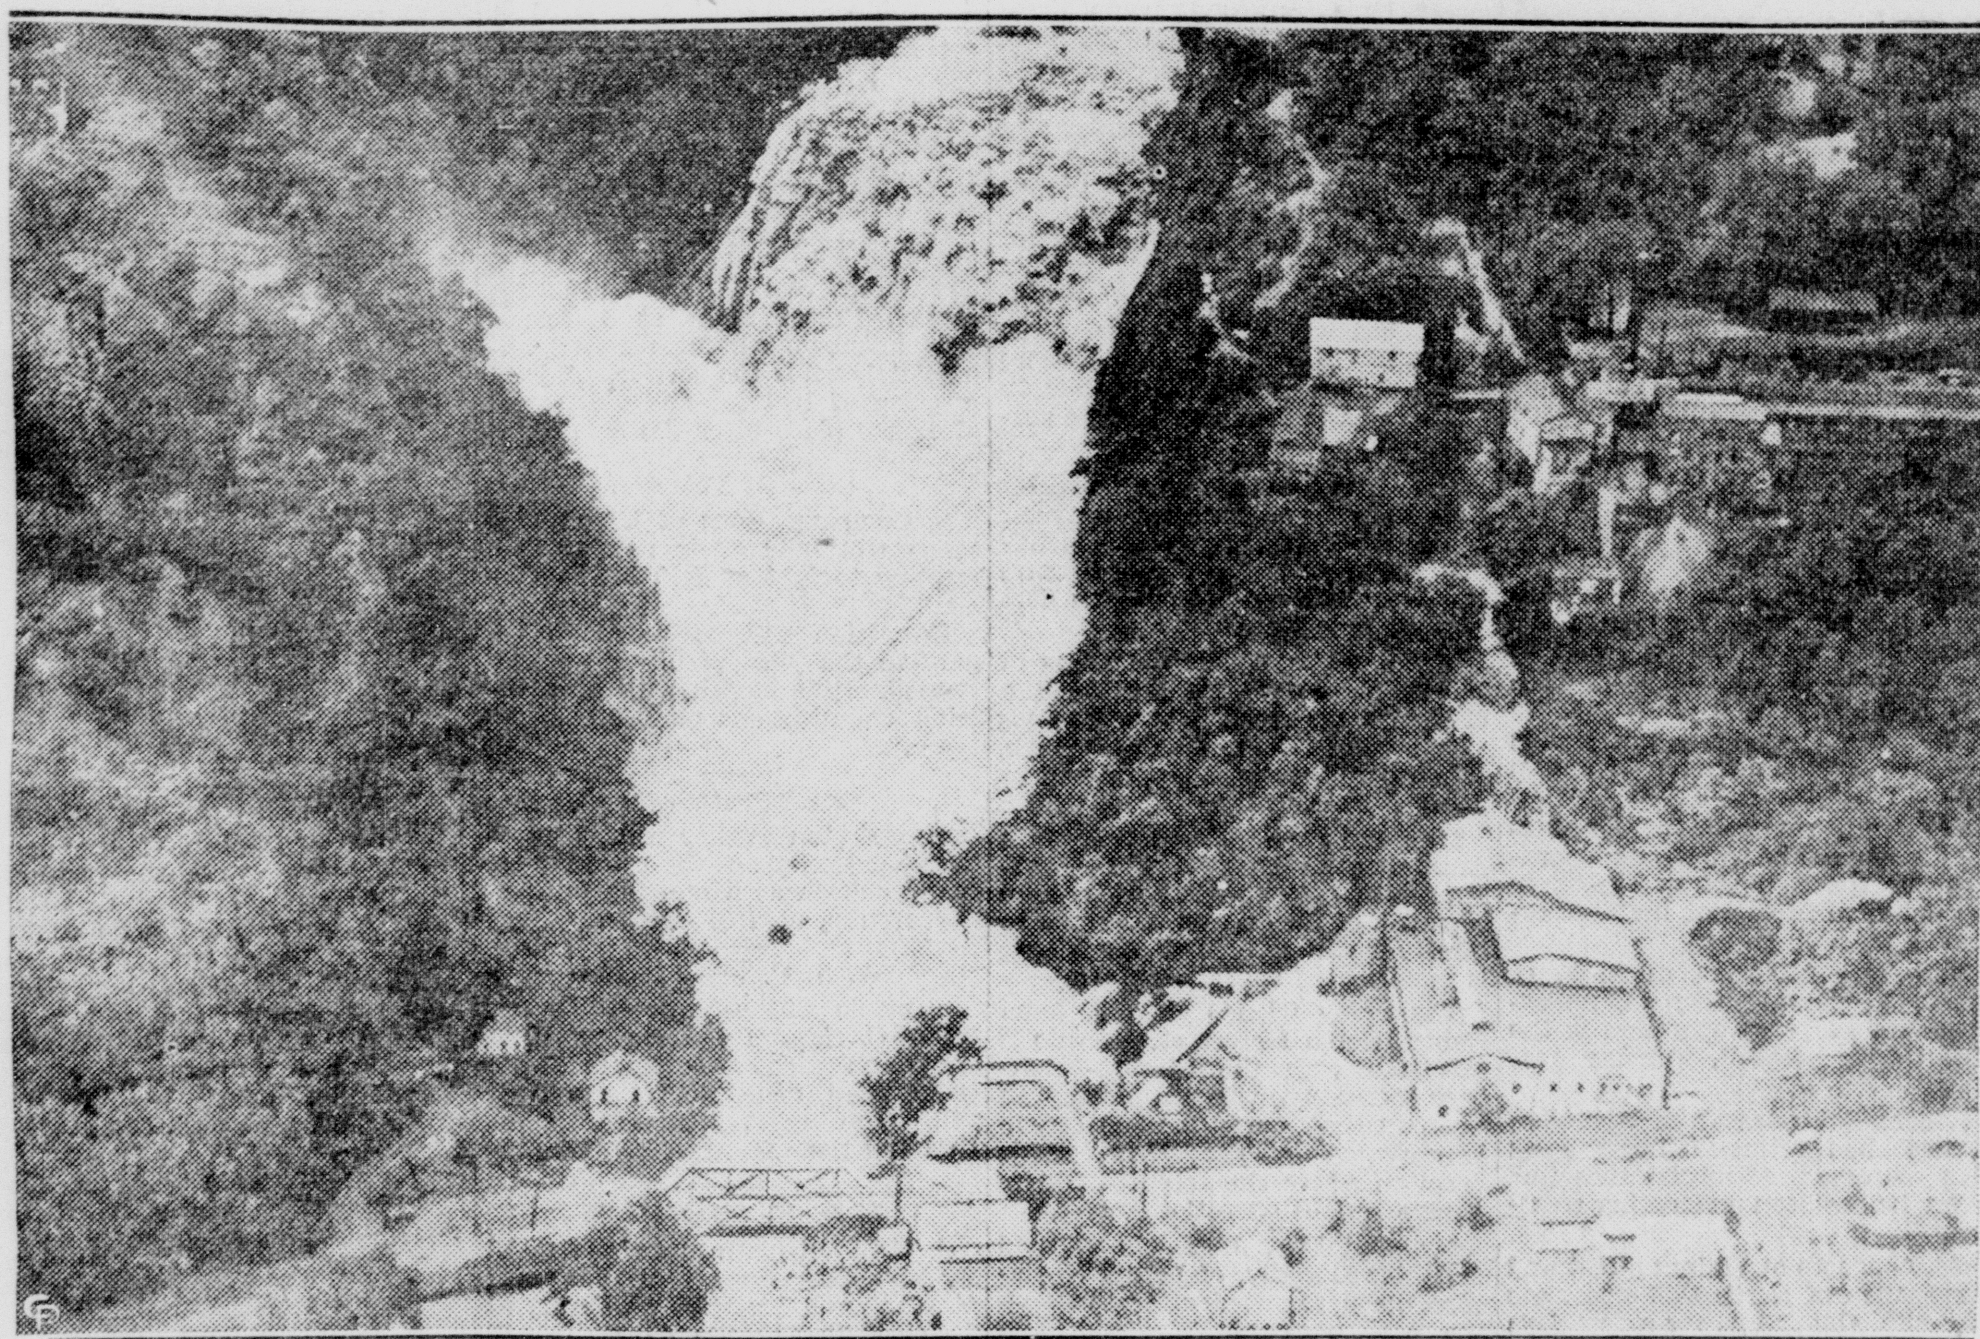

You may be employed in a single operation in a program of production.

But because you show no interest in the other steps of production you are kept at one thing; soon it becomes tiresome and monotonous.

Evidence of interest on your part would not go unnoticed by those in a position to promote you.

An excellent air view shows the tremendous volume of water which poured over the falls in Nine Mile creek at Ithaca, N. Y., after torrential rains caused bursting of a dam. One of the worst hit cities by floods in upper New York state, in which a toll of 38 lives and $15,000,000 property damage was estimated, was Ithaca, N. Y., home of Cornell university. At Ithaca a cloudburst changed a small stream into a raging torrent which swept away bridges and caused evacuation of the entire lowland section. A large section of Ithaca under floodwaters is shown in this airplane picture.

City's Pottery Gets Notable Recognition

National Geographic For July Carries Articles Devoted To State

New Castle is featured in the July issue of the National Geographic magazine, widely-circulated publication and one of the most popular on the Free Public Library shelves. The leading article, "Penn's Land of Modern Miracles," from the pen of John Oliver La Gore, vice president of the National Geographic society, features the city along with others in Pennsylvania. It includes a map of the state and many illustrations, many in color.

One of the color plates shows a display of china manufactured at the Shenango Pottery plant, photographed at the plant. Contrary to local custom the spelling "Newcastle" is used.

The second article, "Today in the Land of Penn and Franklin," is also illustrated, showing views of Harrisburg, Williamsport, Kane, the Pocono mountains, the Susquehanna, Reading, Scranton, Pittsburgh, Phipps conservatory, Schenley Park, Delaware Water Gap, Schuylkill and other places.

The National Geographic, Miss Alice M. Sterling, librarian, states, is popular as a reference book as well as for current reading.

LOCAL FIREMEN TO ATTEND MEETING

Quite a number of the members of the New Castle Fire Department are planning to go to Conneaut Lake, Thursday evening, where a fish fry will take place under the auspices of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Firemen's Association. There will be a business session when plans will be made for the annual convention, and a good program of entertainment will take place.

Girl Scouts Being Asked To Register For Camp Phillips

Local Girls Should Make Reservations This Week; Camp Opens August 11

Now that the Girl Scout Day Camp is running smoothly, attention is being concentrated on the established camp, which will be held as usual at Camp Phillips from August 11 to 25. The registrations have been coming in nicely and the local girls have this week in which to register. Next week, the camp will be open to nearby communities which do not have scout camps of their own, such as Ellwood City, Clarion, Beaver and East Brady. Requests came in from them early in the spring.

The camp committee feels the program will be greatly strengthened this year by having the camp purely a two-weeks' camp. Boating will be the special activity for the older girls. There will be four boats, with competent instructors. Also archery will be in vogue with two or three instructors for that.

The staff has been carefully selected with "Lindy" (Audriella Lynch) as director. She has some unusual ideas for the different units which the girls will enjoy.

The Gypsy unit will be in charge of Mrs. Eleanor Cox Bradley of Ellwood City; the pioneers will be headed by Julia Marshall of Youngstown.

Miss Katherine Ackerman, of Detroit, known to many as "Cricket," will head the older girl unit; Miss Elizabeth Hope, the middle unit; and Mrs. Mary Guy, the Peter Pan again.

Miss Winifred Marrio will be at camp again, taking charge of the swimming and teaching archery. Each unit will have three counselors and they have all been selected.

Registrations should go to Miss Lynch at 113 East Wallace avenue. It is hoped the New Castle girls will register promptly as the camp committee would not like to see any left out. New folders may be secured at the same place, in case the original has been lost.

GETS JAIL TERM

Lewis of South Mill street, who heard the case in his office yesterday, found the defendant guilty and sentenced him to the Lawrence county jail for 60 days. Pinkney was also fined $25 and costs.

Warns Labor On Strange Doctrines

Flint Glass Workers Hear Address By William Green At Jeannette

(International News Service)
JEANNETTE, Pa., July 10.—American Flint glass workers studied a warning today from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to have nothing to do with those who come advocating strange doctrines and preaching revolution.

"The American Federation of Labor is an American institution," Green told delegates to the national convention here. "We are not at the throat of our government because we believe in our form of government. We cannot follow the policies of a dictator and we don't want a form of government imported from Europe."

"We will not permit our great labor movement to be used by some political brigand."

In his two speeches here, Green assailed the present day system of "cut-throat" competition and outlined the A. F. of L. policies.

"Here is the solution of our economic difficulties," he asserted. "Pay the working man decent wages. Our nation is suffering from unemployment because the people haven't the buying power they should have."

"Unless we place in the hands of the people, the money to buy, we are doomed to many more years of present day condition."

In order to spread employment, Green said the federation is advocating a 30-hour week and a constitutional amendment prohibiting employment of children. He recommended taking children out of factories and mines and giving their jobs to men and women who are now unemployed.

Glassmere Man In Jail In Peculiar Abduction Of Neighbor Allegation

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 10.—Howard Fish, 34, of near Glassmere, was lodged in county jail here today in connection with the alleged kidnaping of Edward Baker, 29, a neighbor.

Following a hearing at which Baker told a story of his being abducted and held prisoner for a week, Fish, a former marine, was committed to jail on a surety of peace charge when he failed to post $1,500 bond.

Baker said he was held prisoner in a dark cellar for about a week before being released yesterday. He said he thought there were about four men involved in the purported abduction. Released near Freeport, Baker said the men told him to leave the district in four days or else "I would be taken on my last ride."

Authorities began an investigation of the strange case in the hope of making additional arrests. Fish denied any guilt in the abduction. Baker and Fish lived near each other on the Normantown road, Frazier township.

"How Much Should I Spend for Glasses?"

"ONLY $9!" Says Dr. Rosenthal

Dr. Rosenthal furnishes glasses that really check eye-strain by correcting nearsightedness or farsightedness, and the price is only $9.00! To spend more is extravagance... to spend less is dangerous!

WHY PAY MORE? You can't get better optical service anywhere, even if you pay two or three times as much... so paying high prices is nothing short of wasting your money!

DON'T PAY LESS! Lower-priced glasses MAY correct your sight but too often they are INEFFECTIVE. Incorrect glasses can increase rather than decrease eye-strain. Pay $9.00 and be SAFE!

Ask about Easy Credit Terms

Time payments? Of course! We realize that times are hard and money isn't plentiful. Talk the matter over with us. Dr. Rosenthal will be glad to furnish glasses on terms to fit any income. Don't put it off... come in today!

Girls Getting Camp Life At Cascade Park

Camp Being Conducted Three Days A Week During July For Girl Scouts

DAILY ATTENDANCE
CLOSE TO HUNDRED

Girl Scouts who have been attending "day camp" three days a week at Cascade Park are finding that their dimes are bringing them much better returns than the most unbroken of chain letters.

For one dime a Girl Scout gets a full day at the park camp, a bottle of milk, a good long swim, materials to use in handcraft and the supervision of a staff of trained and experienced counselors.

Needless to say, the New Castle Girl Scout Council did a lot of figuring in order to offer all that for so little money. The staff of councillors is not paid a thing, provides its own transportation to and from the park, and provides its own lunches. The counselors volunteered their services and have been on duty every day of camp.

Although day camp is open to every New Castle Girl Scout it is primarily for those Girl Scouts who are not able to afford to go to Camp John M. Phillips in August. It is a way of presenting the advantages of camp life to the girls who would not get them otherwise.

Toward this worthy end the councillors are giving their time from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. each Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday throughout the month of July.

The camp is being run on the "unit system" just as is done at regular camp. The oldest girls are known as the "Trail Blazers" and have their headquarters on the island which centers the Cascade Park lake. They are in charge of Lois Marian Smith and Beatrice Connor.

Then the "Pathfinders," whose ages range from 13 to 15 years, are next in rank. They are led by Elizabeth Vance, who is in charge of nature, Laura Snider, in charge of mapping, and Betty Dripps, in charge of handcraft.

Virginia Armstrong, assisted by Floy Ramsey and Pearl Hutchinson, is supervising the "Gypsies," and Irene Mitchell, assisted by Mrs. Andrew Dadds and Mildred Miller, is supervising the youngest scouts, the "Johnnie-Jump-Ups."

Handcraft assistants are Velma
Nesbit and Marjorie Wetlich. Virgil Wetlich is in charge of swimming, helped by Beatrice Connor, senior life saver, and Ruth Connor, Leah Davies, Donna Van Horn and
Peggy England, junior life savers.

Handcraft work includes the making of the tie slides, napkin rings, bracelets, hot plate pads, etc., and puppet designing is to be started soon.

Some of the girls go in swimming from 10 to 10:40 a. m., and the rest go in from 10:40 to 11:30 a. m. Each camp unit follows its own schedule throughout the day.

Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian, city library, is at camp each Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock and conducts a story hour.

The attendance has ranged from 75 to 100 girls, and almost every troop of the city has been represented.

Campers Totalling 225, Six Of Them Honeymooners, Rejoice Near Butler, Pa.

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., July 10.—Two hundred twenty-five campers, six of them honeymooners, uttered a cry of joy Tuesday when a quarantine, placed on the camp last Thursday,
was lifted by health officials.

The ban, placed on the camp after three-year-old Bridget Costello, daughter of James Costello, Memphis, Tenn., was stricken with scarlet fever, was lifted when the campers agreed to return to their homes in Indiana, Missouri, Texas, Tennessee, Georgia, Oklahoma, and Mississippi.

Now the newlyweds, Hugh and Ann Costello, Pete and Sarah Costello, and Jim Nelson and Mary Gorman, all of Memphis, may take their delayed honeymoon. They were married here while accompanying relatives on an annual mile buying trip.

Meanwhile, little Bridget was recovering in Butler hospital.

Hanson Not To Go To Ethiopia

Diplomatic Trouble Shooter For U. S. Will Not Complete Trip

CAIRO CONSUL IS SENT TO HIS POST

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 10.—In a sudden move, the state department Tuesday cancelled the orders sending George Hanson, diplomatic trouble shooter, as consul general to Addis Ababa and directed to proceed there immediately.

Hanson, who already was enroute to Addis Ababa has been directed to proceed as consul general to Salonica, Greece.

Cornelius Engert, American consul general at Cairo, Egypt, has been selected as American consul general at Addis Ababa and directed to proceed there immediately.

The state department explained the decision was due to the desire to have a man at Addis Ababa thoroughly familiar with near eastern affairs. Officials pointed out that Engert is familiar with the Ethiopian language and the psychology of the people there. It was felt that it would be unfair to Hanson to place him in a post where he would be unfamiliar with the language and the people at such an important time.

The decision to cancel Hanson's appointment to Addis Ababa was reached so suddenly that the state department was not sure whether the order would reach him in time to prevent his sailing from Marsa-alles, where he was a day or two ago.

It may be necessary to transmit the message to the ship in the Mediterranean or wait his arrival at the nearest port.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m.: one arrest on a charge of exceeding the parking time limit.

During council session it was brought out that the city had agreed sometime ago to pay $75.00 rent for offices used by the Federal Housing administration in the Greer building. This was intended as a means of helping building operations here.
Pursuant to its agreement council has instructed that $40.00, rent and $76.00 for telephone service be paid by the city. When the bills total $75.00, the city will cease to pay the FHA rent and telephone bills.

Council has authorized the payment of $28.00 to Dr. David L.
Perry for services rendered Sherman Wimer, street employee. Wimer was shoveling snow and contracted a blister which burst and later caused an infection. He was sent to Dr. Perry and the insurance company notified. According to Solleitor White, there is some question whether or not his accident was personal or whether it was in the form of an occupational disease.

He said that "it is my impression it was an injury." The U. S. Casualty Insurance company has refused to take care of the bill according to White, who also said the company should pay and having done his work, the doctor deserved his money.
Council ordered the bill paid.

W. J. McKeown, 315 Hazlecroft avenue, has presented to council a bill amounting to $24.00 for damage caused by the removal of a flywheel on his auto. He claims it was damaged by a high intersection at Raymond street and an alley. Inspector Dysart made an inspection and reported that the sidewalk is high. He said the dirt had been washed out on both sides at Raymond street and the alley which is the first north of Butler avenue.

Dysart also reported the accident could have happened as reported.
The street department had no knowledge of the accident, the report added. The bill has not yet been paid.

Arthur C. White, 310 Euclid avenue, has reached a compromise with council whereby the city will accept a payment of $94.55, to settle a sewer assessment. It seems that, two weeks ago White learned of a sewer assessment for $85.00, had been made on lot 89 on Ashland avenue.
The investigation developed that the work was done about five years ago and that there were accumulated charges against the lot as follows: assessment $85.00; prothonotary, $3.25; sheriff, $6.30; attorney's fee, $3.00 and interest at 6 percent, $27.20. He said that, in 1930, he arranged to sell the lot on an article of agreement to Joseph Izzo. At the time the sewer was constructed the deed conveying the title had not yet been delivered and White mentioned that he, as the owner of the land, should have been notified of the assessment at the time the sewer was built. In that event, White maintained the assessment should have been paid and no interest charge incurred.
White and Izzo agreed to pay the city $94.55 which is the sum of everything but the interest and attorney's fee and council accepted the proposal.

Council has received from attorneys for the Rieck McJunkin Dairy company an agreement whereby the company will pay $190.00, in full for mercantile taxes for 1934 and 1935.
The company was assessed as a wholesaler and retailer. They first maintained this could not legally be done. The city held to its guns. Payment is expected soon.

R. T. Withers has informed council that the school board has gone on record as not being able to furnish him with any relief for any part of 1933 taxes on a building which was swept by fire. The city exonerated taxes for three months of that year because the building could not be used. Withers asked the school board to grant some relief but the school board said that the assessment having once been made it could not be changed.

Council has been informed by Solicitor White that the city cannot do anything additional for Mr. Withers.

On May 6, council redeemed a lot sold in the name of Anna Martin for 1929 taxes. It is lot 394, section 31, Third ward. The lot was advertised for sale by the sheriff. The city sent in a statement of the amount the city held against the lot. When the check came from the sheriff's office for the amount necessary to redeem the lot from the tax sale, J. P. Caldwell was named as the plaintiff. The city solicitor's office clerk believed it was taken over by him and later authorized the redemption. However, Solicitor White has since found that, George T. Weingartner took this property over at sheriff's sale and White recommended that the lot should be redeemed in Wei-ngartner's name. The correction was authorized by council.

On Court House Hill

With the unprecedented number of candidates running for county commissioner this year the question has arisen as to what would happen if the county had voting machines.
As this is written there are about 37 candidates for the office, but by the time you read this, the number may be up to 45. Voting machines are not built to accommodate such large numbers of candidates and paper ballots would probably have to be substituted for the office of county commissioner.

A candidate came into the commissioners' office Tuesday and asked if petitions signed in pencil were legal. Followed a hunt through the election laws to see if anything is said about whether pencil or ink should be used with no success.
Failing to find any prohibition against the use of a pencil the candidate was told that it was legal. He had filled out his entire petition in pencil and didn't want to do the work over again. He had been told the use of pencil was illegal.

Another candidate, for a ward office, will have to have his petition filled out again because he forgot to have his signers put "New Castle" in the residence column. He had assumed that it was necessary only to have the street address given.

The suggestion is being made that the county committees of each of the two major parties do something about curbing the flood of candidates for office. It has been suggested that the committees meet and endeavor by persuasion to have the weak candidates drop out, in order that the parties may make a more representative choice. There could be no compulsion about it as the law permits any citizen over 21 to run for office except in several exempted offices such as president, United States senator and a few others.

With the candidates apparently serious about filing, the outlook for election boards at the primary is not so rosy. With candidates for judge, county treasurer, county controller, prothonotary and clerk of court, county commissioner, mayor, council, city treasurer, school board, and ward offices the job of being an election official this year is going to be triple distilled grief.

Governor Signs Fourteen Bills At Harrisburg

Fourteen Miscellaneous Bills Totaling $10,074,708 Signed Today

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 10.—Gov. George H. Earle today signed 14 miscellaneous bills, including appropriation bills totaling $10,074,708, selected from a pile of almost 350 passed by the recent legislative session which still await his action.

The bills acted upon covered a wide range of subjects, including extension of the Parkinson second-class township road system, minor changes in the beer law tax system, reductions of costs of criminal trials and validation of adoptions.

Divert Nine Million.
Largest of the appropriation bills was the Furman bill diverting $9,000,000 from the motor fund for maintaining and construction of roads on the 48,500 mile second-class township system. The money will be spent by the highway department in cooperation with township supervisors.

A companion bill, sponsored by Rep. Blake B. Shugarts, Clearfield, amending the Parkinson act to provide that supervisors may use funds now available for maintenance of second-class township roads for construction of new roads also was signed. The bill also permits townships to apply for federal funds for road construction.

Reduce Trial Costs.
The Andrews bills signed were aimed at reducing the costs of criminal trials. They prohibit witnesses who appear in several cases in the same day from collecting more than one day's witness fee and limit the mileage costs for serving subpoenas upon witnesses to actual trips made.

Loopholes in the beer tax law by which some distributors evaded the $124 a barrel levy were plugged by the Carr bill which the governor signed. The major changes made by the bill were to make beer taxable as soon as it reaches Pennsylvania instead of 48 hours after arriving in the state.

Nautical School.
Other appropriation bills signed were the Flanagan bill providing $93,708 to the board of commissioners of navigation for the Delaware river for maintenance of a nautical school at Philadelphia, and the Westrick bill appropriating $1,000 to the Cresson volunteer fire company for protection of the Cresson sanitarium.

Other bills signed included:
Westrick, plugging loopholes in the milk testing act.
Weldemann, authorizing the state historical commission to report to the next legislature the exact boundaries of the Brandywine battlefield and making an appropriation.
Green, validating several adoptions heretofore granted without full compliance of the law.
Smith, permitting the department of forests and waters to establish rules for control, management, protection, development and utilization of land and water around Pymatung lake.
Larue, appropriating the money in the forests and waters fund for the development of state forests and parks.

Paving Way For Archduke Otto To Take Throne

Austrian Legislators Pass Bill Repealing Anti-Hapsburg Laws

(International News Service)
VIENNA, July 10.—Paving the way for the young Archduke Otto to ascend a restored Austrian throne, the Bundestag (Austrian legislative chamber) today unanimously passed a bill repealing the anti-Hapsburg laws.

The action cleared a legal path for Otto and his mother, the former Empress Zita, to return to Austria from the exile into which they were forced following the war, and provides for a return of much of the great Hapsburg wealth confiscated by the Austrian republic.

Pennsylvania Hit By Floods

Inundation And Damage In Eastern Part Of State Are Tremendous

WATER REACHES RECORD STAGES

(International News Service)
Eastern and Central Pennsylvania today surveyed a scene of damage and destruction estimated in the hundreds of thousands wrought by rivers and streams which were whipped from their usual placidity into raging torrents by almost two days of ceaseless rainfall and cloud-bursts.

Fear for the safety of 500 Boy Scouts marooned on an island camp in the Delaware river near Frenchtown, N. J., was allayed when rivermen said there was no immediate danger. Eight girls were rescued from another island.

Flood waters which rose to the level of fire boxes in the city pumping station at Allentown threatened the water supply.

Lasher far above their normal levels, the Schuylkill and its principal tributary, Perkiomen Creek, spread destruction and suffering from Schuylkill county to Philadelphia through the state's rich industrial and farming sections.

Philadelphia Hard Hit
Damage in Philadelphia was intensified by the raging Delaware to the east which observers said was rising more rapidly than in many years.

To the north, the swollen Susquehanna, fed by flood waters from New York, caused similar havoc as did the Lehigh and Little Lehigh above the Philadelphia district.

Terrific property damage to homes, factories and farms was reported throughout the entire eastern half of the state. Highways were closed by water and landslides and rail transportation was disrupted by washouts and bridge destruction.

Scores of farms were inundated and their crops destroyed by the raging wall of water which forced factories and mines to close, throwing several thousand idle.

Hundreds of homes in Philadelphia and other sections were damaged or destroyed. In the little mining village of Gibberton, near Mahanoy City, not a single home was reported to have escaped damage.

Philadelphia's beautiful Fairmont Park was completely submerged in several low sections and its famous drives were converted into miniature rivers.

Onrushing New York flood waters swept the Susquehanna over its banks at Wilkes-Barre where the water reached a height of 25 feet, flooding the lowlands.

Flood waters were receding in Scranton after driving 40 families from their homes in the flats. Police boats made several rescues.

Several communities were completely cut off as were hundreds of campers along the banks of streams in isolated sections.
The flood crest was expected early this afternoon or sooner after which the rivers and streams will recede unless more rainfall begins.

In the Perkiomen Valley, near Norristown, the raging waters left several communities without gas or electric facilities, smashed scores of summer bungalows into drift wood and laid waste to many farms.

Young Girl May Tell Police Of Fatal Shooting

Indiana School Girl May Break Under Grilling And Tell Of Auto Death Ride

(International News Service)
BEDFORD, Ind., June 10.—A slender, harried young girl of 15, faced another grilling by authorities, today still seeking a solution to the mysterious gun-death of pretty Frances Prince.

She is Loretta Johnson, a wayward school girl still in the sixth grade, who was a member of the party last Sunday when Frances was fatally shot.

The other two in the party were Glen Kinder, 26, and George Hale, 25, of Lawrence county.

All have resolutely stuck to the story that Frances, also a 15-year-old school girl, had committed suicide. But several changes in the stories related by Loretta convinced Prosecutor David F. Long and Dr. R. C. Davis of Indiana University's psychology department, that she could furnish further details.

Job Office Finds More Registered Now Than In '34

Registrations on file at the federal-state employment office in the Johnson building today were greater than the registrations of a year ago, the customary mid-year count of New Castle and Lawrence county residents enrolled for employment there revealed.

Today's check shows 12,798 registrations on file as compared to 7,237 registrations at this time a year ago. Of the total this year, 10,862 are men and 1,936 are women.

As explained by Edward D. She Took It Seriously.
Prayer Is Right.
If A Man Wants To Die.
La Guardia Says Shoot.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

WOMEN, BEFORE and since Heise, have taken heart affairs more seriously than men. Margaret Jordan, an Irish girl, lonely, fell in love with a Mt. Vernon, N. Y., policeman, because he came from her home town.

He was married, with six children, and after he had seen the girl or two years he decided that he must reform and see her no more. He told her about this pious resolution as he sat in his police car, and did not notice that she took the service revolver from the pocket of the car.

He learned what had happened next day when told that the girl had killed herself with his revolver. It was embarrassing for a married policeman with six children.

IN AMERICAN churches Sunday, August 18, will be a day of prayer for peace in Africa, and safety for little Ethiopia, which confronts war with powerful Italy.

That is the right United States interference in foreign affairs. The prayers will reach their destination, and the Supreme Being to whom they are addressed knows what is best and has power to arrange matters in Ethiopia as he chooses.

To pray: "Lord, possessor of omniscience and omnipotence, we leave all in your hands." is right. To send a million young American men and several thousand million American dollars to meddle in not Africa would be wrong.

WHEN A MAN wants to die, it is sometimes difficult. Adam Richetti, companion of "Pretty Boy" Floyd, the late gangster, is awaiting execution in Kansas City. Unwilling to wait, he climbed to the top of his bunk, dived head first, striking his head on the concrete floor. The skull did not break. Then he ran his head full force, against the iron bar of the cell. Again failure. Guards heard, and restrained him.

IF A MAN REALLY wants to die, not controlled by the "law of self-preservation," he does die. In the old slave trade days many Negroes committed suicide merely by turning their tongues back in their throats.

In Russia, under the czar, a nihilist, afraid that torture might make him betray his comrades, decided that he must die. Below the bars of his dark cell, a small oil lamp was burning, wick and flame exposed. He pulled his body up, by the bars, held his abdomen over the flame, and stayed until he burned to death. You might call that determination.

MAYOR LAGUARDIA, of New York, a queer sort of person, believes in action, "deeds, not words," to quote the "forgotten" Theodore Roosevelt. New York has too many criminals, too much racketeering, too many murders.

Mayor LaGuardia is not content to say: "Dear me, how sad." He is organizing his own New York City "G-Men," training them to shoot to kill, in the middle of the stomach, or the forehead. "I don't want this investigation to be just a flare. I want something permanent," says he.

Nothing could be more permanent than a bullet in the stomach or forehead.

ST. LOUIS reformers say women should not sit on high stools with their feet on a rail and drink at the bar. And, the reformers rejoice to hear the saloon keepers say: "Amen."

Reformers and saloon keepers are right. The saloon was bad enough before women moved in to make it worse, hitching up their dresses, climbing high stools, readjusting their dresses, or NOT readjusting them, calling for foolish drinks to show how foolish they could be.

Prizefights, cockfights, regular saloon bars should put up the sign: "Ladies NOT invited." In former days, each child had at least half a chance, because the mother behaved, even if the father did not. That half a chance should be preserved.

INTERESTING LIGHT is shed on the kind of war into which Mussolini is taking his soldiers, and, incidentally, sending his two sons.

The Ethiopian Emperor, Selassie, wanted Red Cross help. The Red Cross said: "You must promise that your soldiers will not mutilate captives." The conscientious emperor, knowing that the wilder tribes among his soldiers would mutilate anybody that fought them, refused to promise, and may not get any Red Cross money or help.

ALREADY REPUBLICANS have been fighting each other, with nothing to fight about. Ohio's Republican leaders resent the action of a Hoover man calling a special conference.

Those Republicans should read about fights between early Christians, who denounced each other more savagely than the pagans denounced them, different sects, accusing each other of most infamous crimes in religious observances. Cleveland Republicans might read the chapter on "Zeal," in the last volume of Voltaire's "Philosophical Dictionary."

THE METHODIST Federation for Social Service, surveying the cotton area, says the AAA cutting down the cotton crop has added to the sorrows of the little worker that raises cotton on shares while enriching the owner of the land. You cannot please everybody.

Hornell Faces New Flood Peril

Continued Heavy Rains Cause Water To Rise Higher Over Area

By J. G. BENNETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HORNELL, N. Y., July 10.—This village ravaged by flood waters since Sunday, today faced a new crisis as continued cloudbursts swelled flood waters. The rapidly rising waters threatened to make impossible further relief from outside.

The International News Service plane, after battling the elements for three hours, was the lone ship able to land at the Hornell airport last night.

Because of conditions resulting from the prevailing storms, it was impossible to remain more than half an hour, the water-covered field bogging the plane down. Reaching Hornell by air is now out of the question. All railroads have suspended schedules and state militia, under the command of Major Arthur Smith, are attempting to get relief supplies through seemingly impassable roads.

More than three hundred persons are receiving medical attention and relief at the Hornell state armory and many others are arriving. Scenes of devastation are almost indescribable. Telegraph poles, heavy boulders, automobiles and trees were wafted about like driftwood by the rising flood currents; dead livestock were seen from the air floating in what had been their pastures; trees, crashing down from the steep hills, tore out concrete culverts as if made of plaster. Two chasms, twenty feet deep, have turned the roads into a semblance of war-torn battlefields.

Pardon Board To Hear Pleas

Two Slayings Scheduled To Die On July 22 Seek Leniency

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 10.—Pleas of two slayers scheduled to die in the electric chair July 22 were to be heard by the State Board of Pardons today.

The cases were the first two listed on a docket of 171 applications for clemency. The board has scheduled hearings for the remainder of the week to clean up its calendar before adjourning for the summer to meet again in September.

The capital cases up for hearing were the applications of Sherman L. Strawser, Snyder county "Wedding Dress" slayer of his former employer, and Dominick Jacobino, Lackawanna county laborer who allegedly ran amuck with a gun and stiletto, killing two persons and wounding three others.

Strawser's hearing was the second granted by the board. At the first hearing his counsel charged Strawser had slain Charles Gable as the "trigger man" for the family of Lester Gill. The Gills, parents and daughter, Zella, 16, the latter the fiancée of Strawser, were later acquitted of murder charges.

DRIVEN 'BATTY'

(International News Service)
BOSTON.—The Bloom household was driven nearly batty, until invaders were batted out of the house by police. Mr. and Mrs. Bloom rushed into the police station in the night in scanty attire complaining their house was full of bats. Two policemen, dispatched in haste, were unsuccessful with hats and coats and had to corner the tormentors with sheets and clubs.

ATTACKED BY OWL

(International News Service)
CHICAGO.—Lurking in the shadows of a large bush, Chief of Police Eugene Spaid of Lake Pluff clutched his revolver and waited for the bird which had attacked a man and his wife in the vicinity the night before. Suddenly, Chief Spaid raised his gun and fired. The night raider fled. It was a mother owl of the "shorteared" variety with a two-foot wing spread.

Mrs. Foster Laughed at Gossipers

Mrs. A. Foster of Baltimore writes: "I reduced from 150 to 135 lbs. with Kruschen Salts—I feel like a chicken. My next door neighbor has lost 5 lbs. in one week and says she eats plenty."

Mrs. Foster didn't listen to gossipers who are too lazy to reduce themselves and don't want to see anyone else slender. You're perfectly safe in spite of gossipers when reducing with Kruschen—it's been approved for years by doctors as a sublime health treatment.

What joy to see fat vanish—to change that dragging walk to a girlish step and best of all to feel so gloriously healthy. Just take a half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—tastes fine with juice of half lemon added. Jar lasts a week and costs but few cents. Eckerd's Drug Store sells lots of it.

C. Conick, auditor.

Congressmen Matt Dunn and Theodore L. Moritz arose today in support of Congressman Henry Ellenbogen's petition for a congressional investigation of the authority. Ellenbogen's suggestion that the authority be abolished has received little consideration from county commissioners.

New Drive On Tax Program

Plan For Income Tax On Corporations Severely Attacked

By WILLIAM S. NEAL, International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 10.—A drive of major proportions against President Roosevelt's proposal for a graduated income tax on corporations developed today as the house ways and means committee continued hearings on the president's tax program.

The plan was attacked as a discrimination against small stockholders and a penalty on the size of corporations.

The campaign, however, was started chiefly through letters and telegrams from business interests to members of congress. Despite statements of business sentiment, a lack of witnesses presaged an early end of the house hearings.

More than 30 persons, among them representatives of big industries, had requested the right to testify. But as the hearings opened today it was doubtful whether there would be enough witnesses to consume the time allotted.

Committee members were unable to explain the situation. One report was that business felt there was little hope of a fight on the administration program in the overwhelmingly Democratic house, and would concentrate its campaign on the senate.

Steele, Honor Man In Navy, On Leave For 16-Day Period

Maurice Dorwin Steele recently enlisted in the United States navy through the local recruiting station. He is now on a 16-day leave of absence from the training station. Steele formerly lived with his parents on the Enon Valley road. During his training period he was selected three times as the outstanding man in his platoon.

This is the first time for the past two years that a New Castle boy has been selected honor man. In the course of 12 weeks at the station he was given the examination for entrance to the group two trade school and passed the examination the highest in his platoon. Upon his return he will take up either of two courses, radio or stenography.

Two Sets Of Twins Born

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—Two sets of twins—born within a few hours of each other—were the main "attractions" in the maternity ward nursery of Mt. Sinai hospital here today.

Two girls, weighing approximately five and a half pounds each, were born to Mrs. Rubin Appleford. A few hours later, Mrs. Morris Glass became the mother of a six-and-a-half pound boy and a daughter weighing five pounds, six ounces.

ROPER DECLARES HE WILL NOT SUCCEED TO FARLEY'S POST

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 10.—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper will not succeed Postmaster General James Farley, if the latter resigns his federal office this fall. Roper made this positive statement today in answer to a direct question.

"I have no intention or desire to leave the department of commerce," Roper declared. "The story that I will succeed Farley if he should resign, has been going the rounds for several months. The best denial that I can make is that nobody thought to ask me concerning it."

Roper explained he would consider the transfer should President Roosevelt desire it, but pointed out this was not in the chief executive's mind, according to his own information.

LOOK OUT! A BLOW-OUT!

I COULDN'T HELP IT, OFFICER. IT WAS A BLOW-OUT! I COULDN'T STEER OR STOP IN TIME

THIS TIRE MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE

Golden Ply prevents great cause of blow-outs!

To prevent blow-out tragedies, Goodrich has built into every new Silvertown Tire the amazing Life-Saver Golden Ply. This invention resists terrific heat—inside the tire—where blow-outs really start. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus, heat blisters don't form. Blow-outs are prevented by overcoming their great, unseen cause.

Tires last months longer

Racing daredevils tested the Golden Ply at breakneck speeds. Gave it everything they had. Not one blow-out. Similar tires without this feature failed at one-third the distance the Golden Ply Silvertowns were run. And what's more the Golden Ply Silvertowns kept right on eating up the miles.

No Extra Cost

You can put this blow-out protection on your car at no extra cost, for Goodrich Safety Silvertowns cost not a penny more than other standard tires. Come in today!

Market Gives Demonstration Of Strength As Traders Turn More Aggressive

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 10.—The stock market gave another demonstration of strength today as traders recaptured the market in an aggressive fashion.

Trading though was comparatively slow with turnover lower. Amusement shares were accorded strong sponsorship as Fox Film jumped more than a point to a new high for the year and induced sympathetic strength in Loew's, Paramount and Warner Bros. all of which scored for the motion picture shares is due to reports of good mid-summer attendance at theatres.

Utilities also gave a good account of themselves as Consolidated Gas, Public Service of N. J., American Water Works and North American recorded gains running to a point. Buying here was prompted by Washington News reports that the holding company bill might never get out of conference.

Steels were quiet but firm as traders apparently preferred to wait on the U. S. Steel Corp's June shipment figures before renewing operations in the group. The corporation's figures are expected to show a moderate decline from May. Atchafalaya set the pace for the improvement in the rails by rising nearly a point to cross 50 for the first time in several months. New York Central, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Illinois Central also were well taken.

Westinghouse was firm after yesterday's sell-off as were the motors, where Chrysler ran up to a new high for the year and then eased slightly.

Farm implements and mail orders were in the back ground today although wheat continued higher. Mining shares were firm, as were the liquors, oils, aviation and specialties.

Trial Of Margaret Waley To

HUSBAND WILL

By HAROLD HEROUX

COURTROOM, TACOMA, Wash., July 10.—U. S. Attorney J. Charles Dennis today indicated the government planned to bring its case against Mrs. Margaret Waley, 19, accused kidnaper, to a rapid close.

"I map place little George Weyerhaeuser on the stand today or tomorrow," Dennis said.

As a dramatic highlight of the trial, curiously-headed George, 9, who was held by the "Egoists" snafu gang until his father paid $200,000 ransom, is expected to point an accusing finger at the blonde girl defendant.

Dennis gave John P. Dore, defense attorney, a hint that the government would set its case shortly and Dore at once obtained a writ from Federal Judge E. E. Cushman ordering the warden at the McNeil island penitentiary to produce Harmon Waley, husband of the defendant, in court today.

Husband To Testify.
Waley, serving a 45-year term for participation in the abduction, is expected to testify that Mrs. Waley was "innocently brought into the plot." He will be the defense's star witness.

The government attorneys claim Mrs. Waley was in the plot from its inception, participated in the transportation of the child in interstate commerce and personally carried $50,000 of the ransom in a suit case from Seattle to Salt Lake City, her home town, where she was arrested. Mrs. Waley's statement to department of justice agents at Salt Lake City was read to the jury by Dennis. The G-men term her statement a "confession" and assert it alone is sufficient evidence to convict her. While the statement bears Mrs. Waley's signature, the defense claims it is not her "own report in her own words." Dore asserts the G-men dictated the statement and caused the defendant to sign it.

Roosevelt Silent
About Conference

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 10.—President Roosevelt's only observation today concerning his lengthy conference with House leaders last night on the legislative program was:
"It was a good party."

He declined to discuss the program or details of the conference.

Technicalities
Removed By Earle

Will Use Money Turned Back In By Judges For Jobless Relief

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 10.—Gov. George H. Earle today swept away the legal technicalities which have prevented donations from some Pennsylvania judges of 10 per cent of their salaries for jobless relief from being used for that purpose.

The executive signed the Sunney bill providing that gifts to the state for relief are to be paid into the general fund and are appropriated for relief.

During the past few years Pennsylvania judges turned back to the treasury a total of $998,666 from their salaries for relief but the money could not be used because it had not been specifically appropriated for that purpose.

LOBBY PROBERS
HEAR CORCORAN

Money that Brewster indicated he would support the "death clause" up to a few hours before the house voted on the provision.

"Was Little Hot"
"You were outraged and felt contempt when Brewster's attitude toward the 'death sentence' cooled," Cox asked.

"I was a little hot," Corcoran responded.

He inferred that after Brewster had received favorable publicity in Maine by pushing through the "Quoddy" project, the former governor decided not to support President Roosevelt on the holding company issue.

Corcoran denied he had done extensive lobbying for the "death sentence" provision.

"During the time the house interstate commerce committee considered the utility bill I only conferred with three members," he testified. These he named as Chairman Rayburn (D) of Texas, Rep. Mapes (R) of Michigan and Pettengill (D) of Indiana.

"Sat In" Meetings
He admitted, however, that he had "sat in" at several meetings attended by house progressive members.

The committee then became embroiled in a political row concerning the constitutionality of the holding company bill.

Corcoran said that Attorney General Cummings had headed a special advisory committee to study the bill before the measure was sent to congress.

Rep. Harlan (D) of Ohio, then demanded the investigators confine themselves to lobbying charges.

Air Activities
Here Show Increase

Five Airplanes Are Kept At Local Airport, Attaches State

Flying activities at the New Castle airport, on the New Castle-New Bedford road, have reached a high pitch during the past few weeks, according to Messrs. L. G. Teakson and S. E. Wilson, operators of the flying field.

At present there are five planes at the airport, four owned locally and one by out-of-town persons. The out-of-town persons who keep their plane here are Dr. Jamison and Mr. Van Tassel of Grove City. Dr. Jamison is a student and Van Tassel has a pilot's license.

The flyers here who own their planes are Homer Gardner, Bill Milson, T. E. Hess and Dave McGowan, according to the operators. There are about two dozen students, some of whom have qualified for solo flights.

Occasionally, according to the airport attaches, planes descend to take on fuel or bring passengers to the city.

(International News Service)
YELLOW SPRINGS, O., July 10.—Hopes of relatives and friends of Anna Sibley, missing 21-year-old Antioch College co-ed, that she may be safe were buoyed up today by the statement of a dean that he understood she boarded a bus for New York after missing one for Chicago, where she lived.

Friends said the girl had only $15 in her purse when she was last seen here July 3.

Naval Building

About July 1, 1936

Secretary Of Navy Swanson
Announces Building Program For U. S.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 10.—Secretary of Navy Swanson announced the 1936-1937 naval building program to start July 1, 1936 but at the same time disclosed that when the program is completed the United States fleet will be considerably below treaty strength.

The program calls for construction of twelve destroyers and six submarines which will still leave the United States 24 destroyers and 12 submarines below treaty requirements.

The building of one additional battleship will be considered but no definite decision has been reached on its construction.

Ethiopia Will Seek Meeting Of League Council

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, July 10.—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia will request immediate convocation of the League of Nations council to debate the Italo-Abyssinian war problem, an official communique stated today.

The emperor's decision resulted from collapse of negotiations by the league's Italo-Abyssinian conciliation committee at Schevingen, Holland.

Ethiopia insists upon peaceful solution of the controversy, the communique stated, and will ask league powers to aid her in obtaining it.

Collapse of the conciliation efforts came as no surprise to the Abyssinian government, it was stated.

Italy fears a legal solution of the quarrel, the communique charged, and is intent upon resorting solely to force to settle its problems in Africa, and will do this "at any cost."

Of Track Ballast
To Flood Zones

Speeding toward New York state's devastated flood area, an Erie railroad freight of 60 solid cars of track ballast passed through here today.

It was bound for the wash-out sections of the Erie's busy Salamanca division at Salamanca.

Freight Agent W. A. Bowers of the local office reported the train was switched from the P. & L. E. line to the Erie here during the night.

The shipment originated at Dickerson Run, near Conneville.

State Files Brief
Regarding Defense
Laid For Hauptmann

State Contends That Counsel For Hauptmann Has Advanced No Arguments

(International News Service)
TRENTON, N. J., July 10.—The state today filed with the secretary of state a 50-word brief in answer to the supplemental brief submitted several days ago by attorneys for Bruno Richard Hauptmann in his appeal from conviction for the murder of baby Lindbergh.

The brief, filed by attorney general Wilentz and his assistants at the trial, simply stated that the defense had advanced no arguments which had not been answered in the state's original brief in the appeal fight.

In the supplemental brief the defense had argued the state switched murder theories during the trial, claiming Wilentz originally charged the baby was killed in a fall from the ladder placed by the kidnaper against the Lindbergh nursery window but in his summation asserted Hauptmann killed the child in the room.

The defense lawyers claimed the testimony of Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh refuted the latter theory.

Sixteen Injured
In Mystery Blast
At Warsaw, Poland

Cellar Laboratory Of State Chemical Institution Is Damaged By Explosion

(International News Service)
WARSAW, July 10.—Sixteen persons today were reported injured in a mysterious explosion that shattered a cellar laboratory of the State Chemical Institute just before the private laboratory of the Polish president, Ignace Moscicki.

Police refused to say whether the blast may have been other than accidental or aimed at President Moscicki, who is the "political heir" of the late dictator, Marshal Josef Pilsudski.

Moscicki, a famous chemist who spends much of his spare time experimenting with nitrogen and other gases, happened to be absent when the explosion occurred.

The entire laboratory, with a large quantity of costly apparatus, was demolished.

State Milk Board
Continues Hearing

Testimony Shows That Farmers Or State Lose About $1,200 Every Year

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—Provided with testimony that thousands of Pennsylvania farmers are losing upwards of $1,200 a year in milk production, the state milk control board today continued its hearing on price and quantity control in the Philadelphia milk shed.

Establishment of a flat rate to producers and elimination of the basic-surplus plan was advocated by milk farmers.

While attorneys for the Philadelphia Milk Exchange declared the Pennsylvania farmer makes an "average of $58 per year per milk cow" and "gets the highest price in America," a picture of destitution was drawn by dairymen.

Steel Man Speaks

Republic Man From Massillon Tells Of Fight To Eliminate Rust

Asserting that stainless steel has been found to be the most resourceful opponent of rust and the metal which will eventually eliminate rust and corrosion with a saving to the country annually of millions of dollars, C. C. Snyder, associated with the alloy steel division of the Republic Steel corporation at Massillon, O., today told the Kiwanis club of the battle to outlaw the rust racket.

Snyder, whose topic was "The Rust Racket," was introduced by Lee E. Allen. The message told of the efforts of steel concerns to eliminate rust.

Congressmen In Turbulent Mood

"Strike Talk" Is Being Heard—Dozen Members Suffer Heart Trouble

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 10.—Rumors of agitation for a "congressional strike" in protest against an all-summer session were rife among discontented members today.

While responsibility for the agitation could not be definitely fixed, several members insisted the "strike talk" was serious.

With tempers frayed and nerves taught, congress is admittedly in a turbulent mood.

More than a dozen house members are now suffering from heart trouble and more may be afflicted by the nerve-racking fights over major bills in the middle of the summer.

One Democrat of prominence was said to be planning to take a delegation to the White House to ask President Roosevelt to let congress close up its business and go home.

Martins Witness Flood Scenes In New York State

Mr. And Mrs. William Martin Travel Through Part Of Flood Zone

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin and their sister, Miss Sylvia Lee Martin of Park avenue, this city, returned early Wednesday morning from Hudson, N. Y., where they have been the past few weeks.

Mr. Martin directed most successfully the "Water Pageant" staged on the Hudson river during the week of July Fourth, as a part of the Sesqui-Centennial dedication of the new bridge known as the "Rip Van Winkle."

On their return to this vicinity, the Martin trio related some distasteful tales of the flood area at Ithaca, N. Y., and surrounding points, which forced them to go 125 miles out of their way.

They report seeing families sitting on top of their homes, with the water steadily rising above the second story of their quaint homes. Many deaths resulted, and other instances left horrible memories. On Monday they traveled through the Finger lakes region early in the day, and later that evening, it was reported the same region was completely covered with a foot of water.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin will remain in New Castle for several days' visit at the home of their parents, Attorney and Mrs. Harvey Martin, Park avenue. Mr. Martin is remembered as having directed several local talented plays in New Castle, which also met with success.

So far as the reading public is concerned, Barbara Hutton's Count Kurt von Haugwitz-Reventlow is little, if any, phonetic improvement over Midvinter.

Governor Pearson
Of Virgin Islands
Bitterly Assailed

Minister Charges Regime Of Graft And Corruption Prevails On Islands

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 10.—Governor Paul Pearson of the Virgin Islands was called "a thief, liar and hypocrite" today by the Rev. E. G. Anson of St. Paul's rectory, St. Croix, before the special senate committee investigating Pearson's administration.

In an affidavit signed by him, and introduced as evidence, Anson recommended Pearson's removal and said he was "a disgrace to the American flag." The affidavit said:

"Governor Pearson has turned out to be an awful liar, thief and hypocrite. Not one promise that he has made has been carried out. He is a disgrace to the American flag, and I cannot understand why he has been allowed to disgrace the people of the United States and its possessions.

"Governor Pearson and his whole set of people should not be allowed on the island."

Rev. Pearson told the committee that Pearson instituted a regime of graft and corruption upon taking office.

"There are few good reliable Americans here," he said. "But every man that was not as crooked as he, was soon dispensed with."

Complications In Work Relief

President's Program Is Developing Some New Angles, It Appears

WORKERS NOT GETTING JOBS VERY SPEEDILY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 10.—The job of spending $4,000,000,000 to try to put 3,500,000 employables from the relief rolls to work developed new complications on two fronts Tuesday.
Announcement by the works allotment advisory board that $100,000,000 had been "ear-marked" for reclamation projects—including some $20,000,000 in projects already approved—evidenced intervention from Capitol Hill.
Approval by the president of a number of non-federal, public works grants in sums under $25,000 indicated that the recent White House announcement "clarifying" public works and works progress projects wasn't quite so clarifying.
That announcement was to the effect that all projects under $25,000 would be works progress projects, except those clearly coming under public works, and all over $25,000 would be public works projects.

However, five days later, a long list of New York City, Alabama, Indiana and Georgia projects were announced for the WPA, headed by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, which went far over the $25,000 limit, some of them being for millions of dollars.

Per man cost on future projects must be cut down if work is to be given to 3,500,000 with the $4,000,000,000 appropriation. To date allotments totaling $1,260,194,074 have been approved, providing jobs for 738,402 workers, according to the specifications on file. This makes a man cost of $1,706.51 per year. With only $2,739,905,926 of the huge fund yet unallocated, and 2,761,598 employables still on the relief load, the average future projects must be held to a $992.50 per year per man basis, if the program is to be carried out as announced. That means, in the opinion of officials, small chance for approval of high-cost-of-material projects, such as war, navy and treasury department structures, and PWA projects.

Hastings Puts Up Party Battle

Is Looked Upon As Best Scraper Among Old Guard Remaining In Congress

NOT MENTIONED FOR PRESIDENCY

Central Press
Washington Bureau.
1900 S Street
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, July 10.—Although no one suggests Senator Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware as a possibility for next year's Republican presidential nomination, he has been putting up the best fight for the "Old Guard" of any G. O. P. survivor in congress.
Republican strategists are right; the Delaware statesman wouldn't do as their standard bearer. He would be beaten nationally, as sure as shooting.
His geography is bad. His commonwealth is popularly regarded as the home of trusts and monopolies. He has been advertised as preeminently their spokesman on Capitol Hill. He avowedly is a dyed-in-the-wool conservative—and he is almost terrifyingly hard-boiled about it, at that.

HAS "FIGHTING HEART"

But Hastings has the fighting heart.
Many another Republican solon has showed plainly that he was afraid of the New Deal. Senator Charles L. McNary's leadership, for example, has opposed it semi-apologetically. To be sure, such Republicans as Senator Gerald P. Nye and William E. Borah have assailed certain New Deal policies with plenty of vigor, but they are not "Old Guardsmen"; anything but.
In fact, not more than eight or ten unqualified G. O. P. "Old Guardsmen" are left in the senate. (There is a Democratic "Old Guard", but that is a "different breed of cats").
Of these eight or ten not more than three particularly count as "scrappers" on the senate floor. Legislators like Senators Henry W. Keyes and Wallace H. White, Jr., are conservative enough, but are of small value in the rough-and-tumble of debate.
The three who really can stand up and swap swats are Senators Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, and Hastings.

HASTINGS MOST FORMIDABLE
Of the three, Hastings far and away is the most formidable character.
Vandenberg is pretty good as a talker, but he hasn't Hastings' ruthlessness. Besides, there is considerable question as to his title to rate as a full-fledged member of the G. O. P. "Old Guard"; indeed, he generally is considered mildly liberal. And Dickinson, while a genuine "Old Guardsman" all right, doesn't land very effective oratorical wallops. He makes lots of noise, but what he says doesn't amount to much. Hastings has all the qualifications. He is 100 per cent "Old Guard".

A small man, with a rasping voice, he is as pugnacious as a weasel. He is as smart as chain-lightning, too. And he is as difficult to disconcert as Senator Huey P. Long.
His obvious conviction is that an attack is the best defense. "Balance the budget!" is his present battle-cry. That the Roosevelt administration's expenditures are approximately twice its income evidently appears to him to be its weakest point, and his main thrust is against it, persistently and furiously.
HASTINGS' VIEWS
As I have said, Senator Hastings perhaps is as conservative a legislator as any in modern times.
And yet:
I once had an interview with him, back in the prosperity era, when one wouldn't have supposed that a standpat would have sensed the least reason to worry, in the course of which he said, "I'm not like some of these ultra-Tories, who don't want to make the slightest concession to so-called progressive sentiment. The west keeps sending radicals to Washington—not occasionally, but right along. It suggests the idea to me that such folk must have a real grievance, which we easterners don't understand, which we ought to investigate, and on which, maybe, we should compromise with them."
"We should be fair—both in justice, and for our own safety, to prevent a revolt."

PROPHETIC
This struck me as a surprisingly enlightened remark for a supposed reactionary to make.
It was prophetic, too.
However, the senator's chance of being nominated for the presidency or the Republican ticket is about on a par with mine.

Germany Plans Increased Navy

Germany Will Build Up Navy Practically Even With France And Italy

(International News Service)
BERLIN, July 10.—Practical equality with France or Italy for battle purposes, actual fighting strength exceeding 35 per cent of Britain's and supremacy in the Baltic will be attained by the German navy by 1937 under the program announced.
Keels have already been laid, or will be laid this year, for 105,000 tons in ships.
Two 26,000 ton battleships, two 10,000 ton cruisers, sixteen 1625-ton destroyers, and 28 submarines are on the list for completion in 1935.
Submarine Finished
One 250-ton submarine is already in commission, and two have been launched. Twenty more of the same size are projected, plus six submarines of 500 tons and two of 750.
Indicative of the speed with which Germany's naval designers have worked since conclusion of the 35-to-100 ratio pact with Britain, it was announced that work will begin shortly on an airplane carrier. Sixteen destroyers have already been launched.
The battleships' guns will be of 11,023 inches, and the cruisers' 7,874 inches.
The pioneer Arbor day state is Nebraska, where the observance began in April, 1872.

Identification By New Method

Will Foil Gangster's Use Of Plastic Surgery To Evade Capture

NEW METHOD IS TAMPER PROOF

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 10.—Criminology's reply to the challenge of gangsters who lose their identities in plastic surgery and chemistry today was flung in crimeland's face by Dr. Carleton Simon, criminologist of the International Association of Police Chiefs, with announcement to the association's annual convention here of a new, and tamper-proof, method of identification.
The new method, based on photographs of the optic nerve and its correlation with the network of blood vessels in the background of the human eye, was developed by Dr. Simon and Dr. Isidore Goldstein, of Mt. Sinai hospital, New York.
A criminal may change his face through plastic surgery, and blur his fingerprints with acid or have new ones grafted on, according to Dr. Simon, but he never can change the background of his eye, and the identification is positive.
"What is true of this new system," he said, "in that no two individuals have the same identification patterns. The many and great variety of blood vessel configurations makes it a mathematical certainty that no two retinal formations are identical."

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—Clement Hagerman, 31, unemployed taxi-cab driver, was held by detectives here today for the murder of his 23-year-old wife and mother of two children in their Lawrenceville home last night.
Hagerman, recently released at his wife's request from St. Francis hospital, where he had been a mental patient, was calm while detectives grilled him about crime.
Detectives, who said Hagerman claims he did not know how his wife met death, quoted him as saying: "My mind went blank."
Mrs. Hagerman was found strangled to death in the bathroom of her home by Mrs. Helen Nucera, 26, her husband's sister.
